EDITORIAL BRIEFS.

SECRETARY MCCULLOCH could not write anything that would please the public so well as his letter of resignation.

THIS earth will be frozen up five million years from now, some astronomers say. Susan B. Anthony will please take notice.

THE New York Legislature cannot go wrong in electing Mr. Evarts to the Senate, but it might go wrong in electing somebody else.

IF there should be a deadlock in New York Senatorial contest it might be necessary to call on Roscoe Conkling for the key.

WASHINGTON county is in the midst of an oil craze. This explanation is made to remove the suspicion that it was jim jams that ailed them.

BELVA ANN LOCKWOOD is still clamoring for a fair count. Many an American woman has been willing to take a second hand marquis and be satisfied.

EDMUND YATES will have to go to jail for libelling Lord Lonsdale. When he gets out he could profitably add the narrative of his experience to the story of his half century of reminiscences.

ALTOONA Tribune: Rev. R. Heber Newton says Colonel Robert G. Ingersoll is really helping the cause of Christianity. In that case, Colonel Ingersoll has a decided advantage over Mr. Newton.

BEN BUTLER with a lively recollection of the prayer "O, that mine enemy would write a book," declines with thanks the proposition that he should add to his other follies the publication of a book.

GROVER CLEVELAND declines to visit Toledo, for fear, it is said, of being run over with office seekers. The real reason, however, may be a fear that Frank Hurd will reiterate his charge that the President-elect is president of a Free Trade club, and prove it.

THE promised return of Senator Ingalls to the United States Senate from Kansas continues in that body a valuable man, who has been gradually growing in esteem until he sizes up to large proportions. He is forcible in debate, quick at repartee and usually right on public questions.

HISTORY has decided that Jeff Davis was a traitor, and the verdict can neither be reversed by bluster nor mitigated by sophistry. Benedict Arnold, Aaron Burr and Jeff Davis are three names which no amount of talk will displace from their well-deserved places on the schroll of infamy.

A VERY important step was the passage, by the House of Representatives at Washington, last week, of the Reagan Inter-State Commerce bill. The majority in its favor was large, although we have seen many adverse criticisms in regard to it. It is believed that the bill will meet with much opposition in the Senate, yet there is a possibility that it may eventually become a law.

A NEW and novel place of amusement was established a short time ago in New York, under the name of the Eden Musee. It occupies a large building at No. 55 West 23d street, and has proved a grand success. It is a sort of combination of museum curiosities, especially in wax figures and stereopticon views with musical concerts of the most select character. Our friends visiting New York, will find the Eden Musee a respectable and very pleasing place of entertainment.

The St. John Dicker.

The evidence already produced, in no fair sense disproved or even successfully impeached, remarks the Pittsburg Commercial, shows that negotiations were conducted in the interest of St. John, and based upon the proposition on his part to sell out his candidacy for a money consideration. The Republican National Committee entertained the proposition, through a sub-committee, the the members of which, after examining the letters and dispatches in the hands of the agent or go-between were satisfied that he had the authority to act for St. John which he claimed to have, but further than this they did not go, and the matter was dropped.

There is a promise that in due time more direct and convincing proofs of St. John's venality will be made public, but those who are familiar with the facts already adduced, and who have personal knowledge of the character of Mr. Legate, as representing the side of St. John, and Messrs. Clarkson, Kerens, Dudley, Senator Plumb and others of the accusing side, have no hesitation in saying that the evidence of an attempt to sell out the Prohibition candidacy to the Republican campaign managers, for $35,000 cash, is clear and overwhelming.

If St. John was not a party to this dicker, in what position does it place his intimate friend and pretended agent? Must Legate confess himself a fraud and a liar? Was he such a fool as to expect that he could cheat the Republican Committee and get them to pay for goods that he had not the power to deliver? This proposition is too absurd for argument, and the only reasonable inference is that Legate was in earnest and St. John was willing to sacrifice his principles for so much spot cash.

It would be interesting to know whether this virtuous representative of the Prohibition cause took money from the democratic managers as an inducement to remain in the field. His subsequent savage assault upon Mr. Blaine and the Republican party give color to the suspicion that he was paid for that kind of work, but that is not material at this stage of the case.

About as weak a defense as could be made for Mr. St. John is the care of Mr. Finch, chairman of the National Prohibition Committee, who denounces Mr. Clarkson as a liar, and declares that from the beginning to the end of the campaign St. John was under charge of the committee; that Legate had no communication whatever with the committee and that no letters or telegrams from St. John or his Prohibition friends can be produced against him. All this is subterfuge of the weakest kind—a denial of immaterial things that have not been charged, and an unblushing attempt to make the public believe that the attempted bribery was all on the side of the Blaine managers.

JOHN J. CISCO & SON, prominent bankers of Wall St., New York City, announced their failure last Friday afternoon. It is believed that the matter will be more in the nature of a liquidation than a failure, and that the creditors, who are chiefly private depositors, will lose nothing. The firm's connection with Louisville and Nashville and Huston and Texas Central caused their trouble. The firm was founded not long before the close of the rebellion by the late John J. Cisco, who had been Assistant United States Treasurer at New York for many years, and had rendered great assistance early in the war in raising money for the Goverment from New York banks. For several years the firm did an enormous business in Reading stock, but of late has not engaged in speculation.

OLD winter has afforded one cause for gratitude. The Beautiful Snow poets have had little or no excuse for breaking loose this season.

Senator Cameron.

By the action of the Republican legislative caucus a few days ago the Senatorial contest is practically closed. That there would be some opposition to Senator Cameron's return was expected, as also that it would come from those who had in the past acted with the independent wing of the party. To this there could be no objection, notwithstanding the fact that by his course in the campaign for Blaine his friends thought that he had a right to expect the unanimous support of his party. The verdict of the last election, the course of many newspapers heretofore opposed to him, an increased and growing sentiment among the people in his favor, and the wide-spread belief that he would be the most useful Republican representative in the Senate that could be chosen, all gave promise that little or no contest would be made against him. And such proved to be the fact. Until within a few days nothing that could be dignified with the name of opposition was made to his return. At the last moment a few leaders who had heretofore for various reasons opposed him opened an active fight with what result has been related in our news columns. And now that he has secured by a large majority the nomination of his party he will receive the support of nearly all those who voted for others in caucus. There will be no bolt, there will be little of the bitterness of previous contests, and Senator Cameron will during the coming six years represent a united Republican party in the Senate of the United States.

Not in the Humor.

Mr. Randall says Congress is not in a law making mood now. No, nor has it been for two years. What a commentary upon a party about to assume control of the Government. For two years the Democratic side in both branches of Congress, has not only failed to initiate any useful, successful legislation, but it has defeated the wise and beneficial propositions of its opponents. The remaining days of the session are few, and the regular appropriation bills still to be considered are so many that this postponement to another Congress of all general legislation will be easy to accomplish. But what the Democrats will gain by making such a record is not so clear. In the Forty-ninth Congress they will be numerically weaker in both the Senate and the House. In the present House there are 201 Democrats and 124 Republicans. In the next House there will be 182 Democrats and 142 Republicans. On the whole, too, the Democrats lose more important and experienced men then the Republicans. In the next Senate the Republicans will gain two, and the Democrats will lose two, members. They lose Pendleton, one of their ablest men, and may lose several other such men by Cabinet or foreign appointments. Since the next Congress will have much to do under the most favorable circumstances, it would seem wise to get as much business out of the way as possible at the present session, but the Democrats say they are not in the humor, and that ends it.

THE Buffalo fast express train for New York, on the Lehigh Valley railroad, jumped the track at Stony Creek, near White Haven, Thursday afternoon. The accident was caused by a misplaced switch. Abram Evans, fireman on the engine, seeing danger ahead jumped from the engine and was instantly killed. The express car and engine were considerable damaged. The passengers were shaken about and greatly frightened, but escaped uninjured. Had the engineer not remained at his post the accident would have been serious, and to his bravery they owe their escape from injury.

ONLY six weeks more of the present session of Congress remain in which to pass appropriation bills.

IT really appears, says the Pittsburg Commercial Gazette, as though an entirely unnecessary amount of fuss was being raised in Episcopalian circles over the recent induction by Bishop Porter, of New York, of a young clergyman into an ecclesiastical brotherhood known as the Order of the Holy Cross. The young man took upon himself the vows of poverty, celibacy and obedience. Irrespective of the question of expediency, he certainly had the right to do so if he desired, and it is just possible that he is as competent to judge of its expediency as those who are carping at him. Ministers of all denominations at their ordination take upon themselves an obligation, expressed or implied, to obey, in all ecclesiastical matters, at least, the duly constituted authorities of their church. In a world like this, where poverty, ignorance, destitution and sorrow are seen on every hand, it is not easy to understand how a faithful, conscientious minister of that Gospel which was first "preached to the poor" could ever allow himself to lay up treasures on earth. There isn't a Protestant denomination which does not abuse the Romish church for forcing celibacy on its priesthood. Is it consistent now to go to the other extreme and insist on forcing matrimony on their own clergy?

THE New York railroad commissioners in their report for the past year maintain that there may be such a thing as too much railway competition even for the public good. In calling attention to the fact that the number of trunk lines has been increased from four to seven without a corresponding increase of business, the commissioners recommend that a legislative restriction be placed upon the power to build competing lines regardless of any public demand for them. In support of this recommendation they cite the fact that when they insist that railroads, bridges, crossings and depots shall be maintained in such a condition as to insure public safety, they are met with the answer that the roads, under the stress of fierce competition, are not earning their fixed charges and have no money to expend for better maintenance or more convenient operation. In the interest therefore of the safety and comfort of the traveling public they maintain that some measure should be taken to prevent ruinous railway wars like that in progress of late between the West Shore and other trunk lines.

GEO. W. CABLE, the novelist, is a Southerner. He discusses the negro question as it pends in the South, in the January Century magazine, in a manner that is calculated to disgust the gushing enthusiasts who are, like Beecher, so desirous of harmony "that they would give their lives (in words) to bring it about, and as nobody wants their lives, take it out in denouncing Blaine's last speech as a tissue of mischievous misrepresentions. It is a pity for the gushers, but it really seems that all the evidence worth listening to, that comes from the South, tends to brand them as superservicable dogs that come before they are whistled for; dough faces who strive to excel in servility their mal-odorous predecessors of anti-bellum days.

Now here is something the men who shrink from marriage should make a note of. They publish statistics in Paris which prove that in time of cholera the chances in favor of married over single men, of escaping the disease, are about as 21 is to 78. That is, of victims of cholera, men between 30 and 35 years of age, 78 were single and only 21 married. The proportion is rather more in favor of the married men as they advance in years. Now, young fellows, hurry up and get married.

SAYS a wicked punster: It is small wonder that efforts for Evarts are successful since it is so easy to make Evarts for Evarts.

Corrupt Communications.

A very objectionable habit which is common with men is to tell vulgar stories for their entertainment when they assemble in small companies, composed exclusively of men. It is an indication of lack of ability to carry on conversation of an entertaining character without an appeal to passion. This was brought more impressively to our attention by a traveling man a few days ago, who says that although in his position he must be "hale fellow well met"—all things to all men—yet never will he condescend to entertain and attract those whom he meets in this way. He says that he is able to be entertaining without a resort to this low practice. He is highly successful as a salesman and can accommodate himself to all classes, but his association with them is only of an elevating kind. That is what we believe very few can say; but it is an ambition every good man should aim to attain. Be as humorous and witty as you please, but let it have no immoral tendencies.

THERE is a strong feeling in Illinois, growing out of the developments in the Chicago election frauds, in favor of the passage of a law making ballot box stuffing high treason. This is a commendable move, but it is not in Illinois alone that such an enactment is needed. That crime should be made treason by Federal law. There can be no higher treason against a self-governed people than to destroy the sanctity and purity of the great safeguard of their liberties, and there isn't an election for Congressman or President held in the South at which this crime is not shamelessly committed.

ANOTHER shocking outrage by dynamite has been perpetrated in England, this time in the quiet little town of Warminster, Wiltshire, a spot as far removed in location and in association from Ireland or Irish matters as can well be conceived. Fortunately there was nobody killed, though considerable damage was done to property. It is not much to their credit that the British police are apparently unable to cope with the dastardly criminals who are in this way making war upon society.

PRIVATE Secretary Lamont's opinion that there will be no mad rush for office under Cleveland's administration appears all right until it is stood up against the declaration of Senator Blackburn that there are 30,000 office-hunters in Kentucky alone. There it seems to be a little out of plumb.

FROM the Philadelphia Press: Mr. Gladstone, according to the London Times, was on the street the other day, facing a bitterly cold wind, with "no other protection than that afforded by a shawl thrown loosely over his shoulders." We should think Mr. Gladstone would be ashamed of himself.

A. K. MCCLURE meets with about as much opposition in the South as Sammy Randall did. Watterson tried to frighten the latter, while a New Orleans lottery manager is endeavoring to get $100,000 out of the former. Gentlemen, we hope these are not advertising dodges.

THE Louisville Courier-Journal announces that Grover Cleveland is a Free Trader, "along with two-thirds of the rest of the people of this country." Obviously, the sore-eyed goddess of Reform put too much brandy in that last batch of mince pies.—Press.

THE venerable General Simon Cameron, who will be 82 in March, expects to go south about the 1st of February. He will be accompanied by Col. James Duffy, and they will visit New Orleans, Florida and possibly Havana, before their return.

THE civil service question among Democrats appears to be simply "What are you after?"

"Rinkurating," meaning to skate in a rink, is the latest new word added to the English language. The young man who coined it received a reward the next day.

A London meteorologist has invented an instrument called the anemograph, which is operated by electricity and keeps a record on paper of the direction and velocity of the wind.

The life of a thousand persons is now equal in duration to that of 1,070 persons previously; and 1,000 births will now keep up the growth of the world's population as well as 1,070 births used to do.

The British drink bill for 1883 foots up $628,386,375. The quantity aggregates 1,032,142,158 gallons. This would make a lake a mile long and a mile wide, with a depth of 35 feet, or sufficient to float men-of-war.

Poetry.

IN THE GLOAMING.

From the Media American.

In the gloaming, Grover Cleveland,
In the twilight of the year,
Are you thinking of the future,
Of its cause for hope or fear?

Are you thinking of the labor,
Of the unremitting strain,
Quite enough to fag and weary
Any hand or any brain?

Are you thinking, are you planning
Of the fight that must be fought,
Or do you trust to fortune,
Saying idly, "It is naught?"

You have won, by luck, a battle,
Stormed the hostile citadel;
When you wrest it from the foemen,
Can you hold it then as well?

Can you strengthen it and keep it
Through the danger and the doubt,
While the bold and wily leaguers
Plot, and lurk, and swarm without?

Can you closely draw about you,
For the fortress and the field,
Men of brain and nerve and muscle,
Who shall be your sword and shield?

Will you lead the sturdy masses,
Holding them in serried ranks,
Or enlist as your defenders
Faithless spies and shiftless cranks?

In the gloaming, Grover Cleveland,
As the year of triumph wanes,
Are you thinking of the future,
Of its losses and its gains?

A YEAR AGO.

I was so rich a year ago
That every day
A little child looked up to me:
Amid its play,
I was so very rich because
The child was mine,
I did not think that he was lent
A little time.

I dreamed, for him, bright dreams,
And he?
The castles that he built
Were all for me.
I cannot tell you, if I try,
How golden bright
The head upon my pillow,
Every night.

I never could begin to tell—
I wished I could—
How sweet this child of mine,
How sweet, how good.
Or half how good I felt myself.
You do not know
How very rich I was
A year ago.

TEARS.

Is it raining, little flower?
Be glad of rain;
Too much sun would wither thee,
'Twill shine again.
The clouds are very black, 'tis true,
But just behind them shines the blue.

Art thou weary, tender heart?
Be glad of pain;
In sorow sweetest things will grow,
As flowers in rain.
God watches, and thou wilt have sun
When clouds their perfect work have done.

Our Story Teller.

"Hang the Baby."

"Then you won't go, Alice?"

"No, Herbert—I'm so sorry—but the baby!"

"Oh hang the baby!" and Herbert flung out of the room, slamming the door behind him.

Alice stood looking at the door, growing whiter and whiter. Then she gave a heart-breaking cry, fell on her knees by the cradle, and hiding her face in her hands, sobbed bitterly.

She had looked forward so long to this particular party. It was given by Mrs. Mountjoy, one of the leaders of society, and all that was eminent in politics, diplomacy or literature, as well as distinguished in the fashionable world were sure to be there. She had been kept at home so much since baby had been born that she really felt the need of a little variety and relaxation. But baby had been threatened with croup the week before, and the fond mother had not yet recovered from her fright. Baby, she admitted, was now better, "but not fit," she declared, "to be left, at least with only the nurse to look after it. Nurses are so careless, everybody had told her, even the best of them." So she felt it her duty to give up the party. She had not asked Herbert to give it up also, and even said there was no reason he should stay at home; but still, in her heart of hearts, she hoped he would.

"He said, 'hang the baby;' yes, he did darling," she murmured, with indignant emphasis, as she bent over the little unconscious sleeper. "It was your papa who said that, and he has gone to a brilliant party, with such thoughts of his wife and child! Did you come, dearest, to estrange us from each other?"

This awful idea called for bitter sighs.

Herbert's awful idea called such beautiful things in her trusting girlhood. "Never should their lives run in separate channels, as those of some married people of their acquaintance did"—"never a joy be accepted that did not make them one"—"never a barrier should come between them." And now to think that this wee babe with its golden curls—this beautiful little helpless creature should part them, as never strong hands could.

She pictured the gay assemblage, and her Herbert dancing with young girls, smiling on others, and leaving her to die of heartbreak.

Her imagination, always too vivid, viewed him in his triumphs, until her misery took almost the form of madness.

"He didn't want me to go," she said; "he acted as if he didn't and then he pretended to throw all blame on dear, helpless baby."

Suddenly she heard the sound of carriage wheels outside; they stopped at the door; the bell rang, and a fairy-like figure stood on the threshold of the room, in all the wistfulness of expectancy, with dimpling smiles and laughing eyes.

"Oh, Mabel!" cried Alice, starting to her feet with a glad cry. "This is, indeed, a surprise. I'm so glad you've come. My darling sister."

Forthwith ensued a scene of rapturous welcome. Then the baby was exhibited, and one would not have dreamed that a tear had ever stained the cheek of the proud mother. Then the visitor's trunks were ordered to be carried up stairs.

"But where's Herbert? In the study?" said Mabel, at last.

"He's—out dear."

"Good! Don't be angry because I'm glad, for we can have such a nice little chat. You didn't expect me."

"Of course I didn't."

"Well, I didn't think of coming, as you know, for a month yet. But I thought it would be so nice to surprise you."

"Oh, I'm so glad."

"And then Paul is coming," said she, blushing, "next week to stay a month; he has business here, and he wanted me so badly to be here, too. I declare," she said, laughing, "I'll have to marry him soon to get rid of him."

"Oh, Mabel, don't marry him unless you're certain you'll be happy!" cried Alice, hysterically. "Be sure first, he won't go to parties, and le-ave you alone with ba—baby," she sobbed.

"What! Is Herbert at a party?" queried Mabel, quite subdued.

"Yes, he is; and when I told him I couldn't go on account of baby, he said 'hang a—baby!' Yes, you little angel, your own father said those awful words—and then he sl—slammed the do r."

"He's a viper!" exclaimed Mabel, with sudden vehemence. "A nice way to treat a wife like you—a baby like that! But why couldn't you leave baby?"

"Because he was threatened with croup last week."

"But he's well enough now—sleeps deliciously. He'll not wake up all the night, perhaps. And the nurse would have taken good care of him."

"I should have been thinking of fire, croup, and all that."

"O nonsense! You ought to have gone. But Herbert had no right to behave as he did; and he must be punished;" and Mable threw her wraps on the bed and took her seat by the glowing fire. "It won't do to let him get the upper hand. Ah! I have it. I've thought of a splendid plan. A charming, delightful plot," and she clapped her hands in glee.

"Oh, Mable, what is it?" and Alice slid down at her sister's feet, gazing in her face with expectant smiles. "What are you going to do?"

"I'm not going to do it. I shall stay here and watch the baby. You are to go to the party."

"Mable! impossible."

"Quite possible. In fact, it must be done. You must let Herbert see that you're as pretty as anybody, and quite as much admired. It is decided. You are to go to the party and play a part. Let me arrange the programme."

"But Mable, I haven't a dress prepared—or anything. I gave up going a week ago, you see, when baby was threatened with the croup."

"Pshaw! You shall wear one of mine, one of the most bewitching, wildering of dresses, bought from my last allowance from Uncle Curtis. Only to see it will throw you into ecstacies. Worth never composed anything more lovely. I want to see it on you. Come, come, call your maid; I am all impatience. We'll shame our bad husband into good behavior, see if we don't. No irresolution. I'll stay at home and fancy myself mistress here, and count your pictures, vases, and pretty things, and catalogue them, so as to make mama happy with a letter tomorrow. Order John, or Jack, or Bill, or whoever your coachman is, to get the carriage—if that's impossible, send for a cab."

In less than an hour Mable led her sister to the great French mirror, and laughingly introduced her to the loveliest and best-dressed woman she had almost ever seen.

Alice trembled a little when she found herself actually on the way to Mrs. Mountjoy's; but her sister's urgent will had conquered, and her heart was hardened by Herbert's emphatic expression concerning the baby. She was reassured, however, by Mrs. Mountjoy's hearty welcome.

"So glad you've come, my dear," she said. "Your husband said he feared 'baby' would keep you at home; but I told him it was all nonsense. You did right to reconsider the matter."

Herbert, like many handsome society men, was a little spoiled and selfish, without knowing it. He loved Alice devotedly, but he was not unwilling to receive the sweet smiles and honeyed words of others; while with a man's inconsistency, he was not desirous that his wife should play the part of a married belle.

It was while he was dancing with one of the most noted and beautiful women of the metropolis, who was willing to listen to his nonsense, that Herbert, looking up from the face leaning against his shoulder, while the dreamy waltz music "thrilled the hearts sensitive to sadness as to joy," encountered the sparkling face of his wife, and saw her arrayed in the freshest and most graceful costume in the room. She was moving quietly along with an escort in uniform.

"Pray, don't stumble, said his partner, petulantly, for that moment the grand repose of his manner was gone, and the lady on his arm might have been made of wax, or any other delicate material, for all he cared now.

"How the dickens came she here?" he muttered to himself, as he led his partner, absently, to a seat, deaf to all her pretty words, blind to her facinations. It certainly is Alice—but that dress—the prettiest thing there! and I felt her quite determined not to come. I don't understand it. Dancing with that military puppy, Guinett, too. She knows I hate him."

With these amiable thoughts, he laid himself out to gain the attention of his wife, and make her to explain. It was some time before he had the chance, so he was obliged to content himself with following her graceful motions, angry with himself and with her.

"Alice. Can I believe my eyes!" he said at last, in the pause of the dance.

"I should think you might, rather,' was the nonchalant reply.

"Pray, how did you come?"

"Pray, how did you come? I rode. Did you walk."

"Well, but——"

"Excuse me. I'm engaged four deep already;" and Herbert was forced to move aside, as a pompous acquaintance claimed her hand."

"I'd like to knock that fellow down," he muttered, angrily in earnest.

Another pause, and another tete-a tete. No satisfaction given. Herbert had hardly the grace to redeem his dancing engagements.

"About the baby, Alice?" he asked anxiously.

She put her rosy lips to his ear and in a subdued voice exclaimed: "Hang the baby!"

Herbert started and changed color. To be sure he had used the same language; but from her it was too exasperating. How he got through the evening he could hardly tell. When at last they were together in the carriage, driving home, they might have been at open rupture but for the determined calmness of Alice, who took everything as a matter of couse.

One glance in the beautiful nursery unsealed his eyes. There, by the fire, sat Mabel, in all the abandonment of a neglige toilet, her luxuriant tresses falling in glossy freedom over her shoulders, while the little fellow on her lap, clutching at one long, shining curl, crowed and laughed as well as he could for "aunty's" smothering kisses.

A sudden revulsion of feeling came to the father's heart at sight of the sweet home picture.

"Aha, I know who contrived the plot," he said, "but I am glad to see you, Mabel, nevertheless."

"Wasn't she the belle of the ball?" answered Mabel, saucily.

"There's no doubt of that. At any rate I didnt get a chance to dance with her."

"Of course, who ever heard in society of dancing with one's wife," she said sarcastically. "I see that she followed my directions implicitly. You must learn, sir that a house divided against itself cannot stand—that is, if one half is flirting at a party and the other half is at home, crying her eyes out.

"Oh, Alice—were you really!"

"I should think she was. I can assure you that I myself saw half the house dissolved in tears, and so wretched that—"

"Mabel, hush!" said Alice, imploringly.

"Traitor, do you turn on me?" exclaimed Mabel, with mock displeasure.

"My child," she went on, tossing the crowing cherub, "tell your selfish papa that he also has some obligations, and that, if you had known you were to be the bone of contention in this family, you'd have stayed in the garden of angels, where you were wanted."

And that night she tapped on the door of Alice's room and looked gaily in. "Wasn't I right," she asked. And she was right, for Herbert was strongly affected by this audacious outburst, but it had the effect of leading him to see his duty in a new light. It taught him to reflect; opened his eyes to his selfishness, and made him, from that evening, a better and more considerate husband.

Six months after that time Alice was dressed for a party. But this time the party was given in her own house, and in honor of Mabel's marriage. Even the bride did not look lovelier, for nothing now ever occurred to mar Alice's happiness; and happiness, after all, is the best preservative of beauty.

The Frozen Wonders of Siberia.

"When I was in Siberia," said Capt. Furskins, "it was so durned cold that your breath would freeze and drop in lumps to the ground. But we had lots of fun. There were plenty of jack rabbits and other game, but it was most too cold to handle a gun. So on a clear moonlight night we would set a couple of big headlight lanterns on the glistening snow, way out on the steppes, and just wait for developments. The rabbits would be attracted by the intense light, which was reflected for a great distance over the snow crust, and would all gather in a circle around the lamps in mute astonishment at the free picnic they were having. By and by their eyes would begin to water from the intensity of the light, and as drop after drop rolled down it formed an icicle from the ground up, which finally froze solid to the eye balls and there we had 'em. Next morning all you had to do was to take 'em by the tail and break 'em off the icicles."

Lowell "Courier." Professor Blackie of Edinburgh recommends to those having time to kill, to sing Scotch songs rather than smoke tobacco. We do not love tobacco much more than Professor Blackie, but we should take a good deal of smoke in preference to Scotch songs.

William Sorry that He Bet.

Our days are as the grass,
Or like the morning flower,
When chilling winds sweep o'er the plain,
They wither in the hour.

How vain and empty are things terrestrial. How void and vacant the whole earth seems to him who buys a plug hat for another man. We think that we can read the signs of the times in the torchlight procession, but we cannot. We guess on the general result and then purchase a new overcoat for a total stranger, while we steer our own arms down into the mysterious linings of our three-year old coat and feel sad.

The sight of a new shining silk hat brings the tears to my eyes.

The American people devote too much thought and too much time to politics. If any man refers to politics in my house hereafter, I will set him up in the requiescat business. The following notice is posted in the main hall where visitors present their credentials:

> Parties referring to the late election in a light or flippant manner, will please state, before leaving, what size of coffin they wear and and whether they desire to be buried inexpensively or with pomp and eclat.
> Estimates of pomp and eclat furnished on application.

I am no politician and never was. I am just a plain, unassuming, but talented chap, with a tendency to converse freely on subjects that I don't know anything about. This is the reason why the aurora borealis will look down this season on a tall, amateur politician in my ward, wearing the same underclothing that he wore last winter.

I have no objection to allowing a professional politician the privilege of betting on election results, but it's poor business for a man of letters. The literati ought to abstain from it. John Bunyan never guessed on Indiana and got left, did he? He was no guesser. He was a writer. Let every man attend to his own business, I say, and shun politics as he would the deadly upas tree.

I think the country ought to be saved and am willing to do what is right, but I have gone out of the plug hat business. Parties who have countries that they would like to have saved will be attended to if they will call during office hours, but those who yearn for new clothes at my expense will please call while I am in New Orleans this winter delivering the opening address at the Cotton Carnival.

I visited an intimate friend over in the Stillwater Penitentiary the other day, a friend named Younger, and said to him: "Cole," said I, "you think you are a little unfortunate and hampered here, perhaps, but I think you are mighty fortunate. Of course you can't go out much, and you have a rather monotonous time of it here, but you miss the cyclones and the elections. Your life is perfectly safe while your sentence lasts."

After I had told him what I had passed through and had explained to him the political outlook, and the price of plug hats, he wrung my hand and even smiled. When I left him he was singing softly to himself,

"Oh, what shall the harvest be?"

BILL NYE.

P. T. Against the World.

NEW YORK, Jan. 12.

The following letter is said to have been received by General Grant today:

"BRIDGEPORT, Jan. 12, 1885.

General U. S Grant, twice President of the United States, etc.:

HONORED SIR—The whole world honors and respects you. All are anxious that you should live happy and free from care. While they admire your manliness in declining the large sum recently tendered you by friends, they still desire to see you achieve financial independence in an honorable manner. Of the unique and valuable trophies with which you have been honored we have all read and all have a laudable desire to see these evidences of respect and love bestowed upon you by monarchs, princes and people throughout the globe. While you would confer a great and enduring favor on your fellow men and women by permitting them to see these trophies, you could at the same time remove existing embarrassments in a most satisfactory and honorable manner.

I will give you $100,000 cash besides a proportion of the profits, assuming all risks myself, if I may be permitted to exhibit these relics to a grateful and appreciative public and I will give satisfactory bonds of half a million dollars for their safe keeping and return.

These precious trophies of which all your friends are so proud, would be placed before the eyes of your millions of admirers in a manner and style at once pleasing to yourself and satisfactory to the best elements of the entire community.

Remembering that the mementoes of Washington, Wellington, Napoleon, Frederick the Great, Stephen Girard and many other distinguished men have given immense pleasure to millions who have been permitted to see them, I trust you will in the honorable manner proposed, gratify the public and thus inculcate the lessons of honesty, perseverance and true patriotism, so admirably illustrated in your career.

I have the honor to be
Very truly your friend and admirer,
P. T. BARNUM.

"Where did you get this French Bible?" asked Smith, taking up a book from Black's table. Black—"French Bible! I havn't got any French Bible. The only Bible I have is the one you have in your hand. Had it ever since I was married." Smith (holding up the book)—"What do you call that but French?" Black—"By gracious! So it is! Funny I never found it out before."

Eat at Night.

"Go home and eat a good supper; that's all the medicine you want," and the medical gentleman to whom a newspaper reporter had gone for a nervous, or sedative, or sleeping potion, opened the door to show him out. "But, doctor, it is 11 o'clock at night" "Well, what of it? Oh, I see, the popular prejudice against eating at night. Let me tell you, my young friend, that unless your stomach is out of order, it is more benefit to eat before going to bed than it is harmful. Food of a simple kind induces sleep. At what hour did you dine?" "Six o'clock." "Humph! Just what I thought. Six o'clock. Fourteen hours between dinner and breakfast. Enough to keep any man awake. By that time the fuel necessary to send the blood coursing through your system is burned out. Animals sleep instinctively after meals. Human beings become drowsy after eating. Why? Simply because the juices needed in digestion are supplied by the blood being solicited toward the stomach. Thus the brain receives less blood than during the hour of fasting, and becoming paler the powers grow dormant. Invalids and those in delicate health should always eat before going to bed. The sinking sensation in sleeplessness is a call for food. Wakefulness is oftentimes merely symptoms of hunger. Gratify the desire and sleep ensues. The feeble will be stronger if they eat on going to bed. Some persons are exhausted merely by the process of making their toilet in the morning. A cup of warm milk and toast on retiring, or of beef tea, on awakening, will correct it." "But is it not essential that the stomach should rest?" "Undoubtedly. Yet, when hungry, we should eat." "Does the infant's stomach rest as long as the adult's? Man eats less often only because his food requires more time for digestion. Invalids and children at night may take slowly warm milk, beef tea, or oat meal. The vigorous adult can eat bread, milk, cold beef, chicken, raw oysters, or some other such food. Of course it must be done in moderation. You start home now, and take a cup of tea and a beef sandwich on the way and I'll risk your sleeping. Good night!"

Why She Sang High G.

A lot of girls were practicing some choral pieces for the forthcoming Cristmas services at the snug and luxurious Trinity chapel. Brother Dix is nothing if not intensely literary in his worshipful duties, and he was just tickled almost to death because he had been able to borrow some ancient music written in the missal style of the sixteenth century. A huge page of the precious melody, with notes as big as plaques, and embellished with heads of saints and angels, was displayed on an easel in front of them. They were expected to enthuse mightily over the treasure of art and religion, and raise their voices reverentially to the mummified tune. There was one girl, a high, squeaky soprano, who seemed to have a vocal explosion at a certain point, sending one note up like a sky-rocket. Dix was a little startled, and let her try it over and over again, but ever with the same phenomenon.

"I beg your pardon, Miss Sophie," he said blandly, "but where do find that note away up in high G?"

She gazed fixedly at the ornate sheet of music, with its conglomeration of notes and cherubim. Then she emitted a tee-he and said: "Well, doctor, if I havent been singing the head of that bald angel every time I came to it!"

The Bridegroom Ignored.

"Did you ever notice," queried our society young man, "how utterly no good a groom is at a wedding? Of course the affair couldn't come off without him but he is never noticed. Every lady cranes her neck to see what the bride has on, but the groom might as well wear a pair of pajamas and a polo cap for the notice he attracts. In congratulating the bride the guests are always careful to address her as 'Miss So-and-So,' because they seldom know the groom's name. And if the poor groom makes any blunder in trying to force his words by the heart in his throat he is snickered at, while the faltering of the bride is attributed to maiden modesty, and she is buoyed up by the muttered 'so sweets' and 'how loveleys' of the softer sex."

Queer Questions.

Does a flowery orator have a mealy mouth?

Are the male children of knights sons of darkness?

Can a whip which is cracked be called out of its head?

Autumn thoughts: How much shall I have to pay for my winter's coal?

If a gas man were to write poetry would his meter be correct?

Wonder what Adam thought when Eve was cutting up his first pair of pants to make an ulster for little Cain?

A fashionable exchange observes that "bric-a-brac is fast disappearing from the mantlepiece." Why don't you make the children stay in the nursery?

"Pa! Say: tell me, was Plutarch the name of a cat?" "Plutarch the name of a cat, my child? Why, no; what made you ever think of that?" "Because I heard you say once that a cat had nine lives, and last night, when sister's literary club met at our house, I heard them talking about Plutarch's Lives; so I thought he couldn't be a man, to have more than one. Say, pa; what was he?" Oh, Plutarch was-er-a-er—Go ask your sister.

Yes, Longfellow is a poet; but all poets are not long fellows. In fact, poets are generally short—very short.

Married in Haste.

The unexpected marriage of Miss Georgia Laramore, of Americus, Ga., to Ward Holt, conductor on the Southwestern Road, has created quite a sensation. Mr. Holt being aware that Miss Laramore was to marry a prominent Macon merchant in a day or two, stepped over to the hotel verandah, where she was standing with a letter in her hand, and congratulating her. Holding up the letter, she said:

"Do you see this?' It is a request for a postponement, which I have granted."

"Why?" replied the conductor, whose train was now ready to leave, "I would not have agreed to that. Do not postpone a wedding. If he is not ready, I am, and you know I love you. Will you marry me?"

She dropped her head, drooped her eyes, and next moment, the answer was plain. The conductor delayed his train for five minutes, procured his license from a magistrate who was within call, and in less time than it takes to tell it, the two were made one. Then the conductor, kissing his wife, pulled out with the train, having first telegrapned to Macon for a conductor to meet him midway. The relief arrived at the place designated. Mr. Holt returned to his bride, while her letter of postponment to her jilted lover, by the kindness of the postmaster, was withdrawn from the mail.

There is nothing like practical illustration to bring home the meaning of things. Puzzled by hearing a deal of talk about contracting and expanding the currency, an American lass asked her sweetheart: "What is the difference, John, between contraction and expansion, and how do circumstances affect them?" John was quite equal to the occasion. "Well, dear," said he, "when we are alone we both sit on one chair, don't we?" "Yes, dear." "That's contraction. But when we hear your pa or ma coming, we get on two chairs, don't we?" "I should say we did." "Well, love, that's expansion, and it is seen according to circumstances." "John," said the satisfied maiden, "we are contracting now, ain't we?" "You are right!" said John; and then was performed an operation which a great mathematician defined as consisting "in the approach of two curves which have the same bend as far as the points of contact."

Wade Hampton's Crow Story.

Gen. Hampton says that while on his Missis-ippi plantation he saw a tame crow that could laugh and talk. The bird would say, "He lo!" "How are you?" and several other things of like import. It was the most wonderful raven since the days of Barnaby Rudge and Edgar Poe. One morning a vast number of crows assembled in a tree on the plantation and prepared for a pow wow. The tame bird flew among them, and rearing up, saluted the congregation with a brisk "Hello! How are you?" His astonished brethren scattered in alarm, as if they had been fired upon from a mountain howitzer. This marvelous fowl of that air was to have been taken to the New Orleans exposition, but its sudden disappearance prevented. Gen. Hampton surmises that some negro shot him by mistake.

A Steamer's Cargo on Fire.

LONDON, January 16.—The fire in the cargo of the steamer Aquada, which arrived off Dover yesterday, while on a voyage from Galveston to Bremen, was partially subdued last evening, but the flames burst out afresh to-day and are now raging worse than before. All the bulkheads have given away. Two tugs are alongside the steamer with pumps, but are prevented from using them by the heavy swells. Centrifugal pumps have been placed on board the steamer. The water pumped in rushes from end to end of the burning vessel. The crew is working hard to discharge that portion of the cargo which the fire has not touched.

The English Unemployed.

LONDON, Jan. 15.—A meeting was held at Birmingham to-day, which was attended by 5,000 persons, who are at present out of employment. A resolution was passed asking the corporation of the city to furnish them with employment. After the meeting, a procession was formed which marched through the streets. It halted before a bakery, and shouts of "Break in" were heard. An artisan stole a loaf of bread from the shop and was promptly arrested. Much excitement exists among the working classes, and it is feared that violence will be resorted to unless their condition soon improves.

A Forger's Escape.

ST. PAUL, Jan. 15.—John Kienapple, a notorious forger, escaped from the Olympia Prison, Washington Territory, and smuggling himself on board a steamer, managed to reach Victoria, B. C. The American authorities are unable to arrest the fugitive while he remains on English soil. Keinapple, by forging and various dishonest practices, contrived to victimize a large number of persons. His total peculations, it is estimated, aggregate over $40,000. When his crimes were first discovered Keinapple fled from Olympia and escaped to California, but was pursued and captured.

The Coldest Night in Northern Texas.

DALLAS, Jan. 16.—Last night was the coldest known in Northern Texas for a year past. A blizzard continued all day yesterday. The loss of cattle and sheep on the ranches and ranges will doubtless be enormous. A report from Abilene, the centre of the live stock region of West Texas, says matters are gloomy. The cold weather of the past month has been very disastrous, especially upon sheep. The loss is from 10 to 20 per cent.

Crime in Huntingdon County.

HUNTINGDON, Pa., Jan. 18.—One of the most brutal murders that has ever occurred in this county was perpetrated in West township, a very remote part of the county, on Friday morning last, the details of which have just been made public by the arrest of the murderer, John Gardner, who was brought to this city this morning and confined in jail. The murder occurred in Diamond valley, one of the most dreary and desolate mountain regions in the state, which is rarely visited by any persons except hardy and venturesome hunters.

John Gardner, the murderer, is 27 years old, and resided with his father-in-law, Mr. George Warfield, the other members of the household being Mrs. Gardner and infant child, Mrs. Warfield and Miss Lizzie Warfield and babe. The details of the unprovoked murder are as follows:

On Thursday evening Gardner took one of Mr. Warfield's horses to go to a neighbor's, some five miles distant, for a bag of corn. Not returning until the next morning his father-in-law upbraided him for his unnecessary delay, saying that he, (Warfield) though 80 years of age, could have performed the task much sooner. Gardner, who was under the influence of liquor, grew furious at the old man's remarks, and picking up a heavy club struck his father-in-law across the back of the head, knocking him down, crushing the occipital bone and killing him instantly. After he had fallen Gardner repeatedly struck him over the head and body and left him lying where he fell and went into the house.

Mrs. Warfield was the only eye witness to the murder, and Gardner knowing this threatened to shoot her if she should tell. He forced her to assist him to carry the dead body of his victim into the house, and in doing so the poor old woman fainted in the road. The funeral occurred yesterday afternoon, and up until that time Mrs. Warfield had refrained from exposing the murderer. Gardner had led the neighbors to believe the old gentleman had fallen from the barn. Being unable to conceal it any longer, however, Mrs. Warfield told the facts to a neighbor, who informed the authorities.

A warrant was placed in the hands of a constable, who, fearing Gardner's quarrelsome nature, refused to arrest him, when Dr. George W. Ruter and William Davis, of Wilsontown, were deputized and succeeded in arresting the murderer last night. His captors guarded him at the Merchants' hotel in Petersburg during the night, and this morning brought him to this city and delivered him over to Sheriff McAlevy. Gardner has been frequently confined in jail for maltreating his aged father-in-law, and when arrested last was preparing to leave the country. The affair has created the most intense excitement here.

Electing United States Senators.

HARRISBURG, Jan. 20.—The two houses of the legislature voted this afternoon at 3 o'clock for United States Senator, and Hon. J. Donald Cameron received a majority of 90 of all the votes cast. To-morrow at 12 o'clock the two houses will meet in joint convention, and the journals will will then be read and the certificate of Senator Cameron's election signed.

The vote was as follows: Senate—Cameron 28, Wallace 18; Agnew voted for Acheson, of Wheeling, and Emery for William D. Kelley; Lee and Wallace were absent. In the house the vote was Cameron 135, Wallace 50, Shiras 1, Kelley 1, Brumm 1.

INDIANAPOLIS, Jan. 20.—Voorhees was re-elected senator to-day, receiving a majority of 45 out of 149 votes over ex Governor Porter, who was nominated by the republicans.

PROVIDENCE, Jan. 20.—Jonathan Chace was elected United States senator to-day by the following vote: Chace 79; William P. Sheffield, 6; Isaac Bell, jr., of Newport, 22.

HARTFORD, Jan. 20.—The senate at noon voted for United States senator. O. H. Platt, republican, received 15 votes; W. H. Barnum, democrat, 7. In the house the vote was Platt, 148; Barnum, 77.

RALEIGH, N. C., Jan. 20.—Senator Vance was re-elected to the United senate to-day.

TALLAHASSEE, Fla., Jan. 20.—Wilkinson Call was to-day re-elected United States senator.

ALBANY, Jan. 20.—In the democratic senatorial caucus, held this morning, Edward Cooper, of New York, received 28 votes; Joseph Pulitzer, 21; William Smith 2. Cooper's nomination was made unanimous. The senate formally nominated William M. Evarts for senator to-day. Evarts received 19 and Cooper 13 votes. At noon the house balloted for United States senator, with the following result: William M. Evarts, 75; Edward Cooper, 52.

Earthquakes Getting Near.

LEBANON, Pa., Jan. 16.—Yesterday morning at ten minutes past 4 o'clock an earthquake shock was distinctly felt at Shæfferstown. The shock was felt by persons living in different houses, and furniture was jarred and seen and heard moving and shaking. A noise accompanied the shock.

War Clouds.

LONDON, January 19.—The excitement caused yesterday by the unusual occurrence of a council at the war office on Sunday was greatly increased to-day by the report that the government has decided to resist any attempt on the part of Turkey to occupy any portion of Egypt or land troops in that country. There is considerable bustle and excitement at the war office to-day. Orders have been sent to Chatham, Portsmouth and Woolwich which caused much activity at the great naval stations. Another battalion of troops at Malta has been ordered to embark at once on the steamship Poonah for Alexandria. Other troops are ordered to be in readiness to move at a moment's notice. The indications all point to stirring events in Egypt. There is no doubt that the ministry is determined not to allow Turkey to interfere in the Egyptian affair by placing an armed force in any portion of Egypt.

Information was obtained to-day from one of the attaches of the war office from which it is fair to assume that the government expects quite lively times in Egypt during the present campaign against the Mahdi. The gentleman stated that General Lord Wolesly had sent urgent telegrams to the war secretary requesting immediate dispatch of reinforcements for the purpose of holding Osman Digna in check and preventing that aggressive lieutenant of the Mahdi from harrassing his rear or cutting up the roads behind him. "General Wolesly," said this informant, "has intimated all along in his dispatches that he expected some hard fighting before the campaign ended, and has never lost any opportunity to impress the home government with the importance of sending out several other battalions in addition to the force already in Egypt." The above is partially confirmed by the receipt by the Central News of a dispatch to Malta, stating that the commanding officer at that place had received a dispatch ordering the immediate embarkation on the steamer Poonah, of the Peninsular and Oriental line, of another battalion of troops for Alexandria.

An Asylum Burned.

KANKAKEE, Ill., January 18.—The south infirmary of the Illinois Eastern hospital for insane was burned this morning at 4 25 o'clock. The fire originated in the furnace room and had obtained a strong headway before it was discovered. The building was occupied by 45 patients, six attendants and one night watchman. Seventeen patients in all are missing. Thirteen bodies have already been recovered burned beyond recognition. All of the patients were infirm and incurable. The bedridden ones were rescued first and those who were able to help themselves did not realize the danger in time and they were the ones who perished. The attendants lost all their personal effects and many narrowly escaped with their lives, one of them having to tie the bed clothes together to escape from the window to the ground. There were no facilities for putting out the fire, the state not having made any appropriation for the purpose. The building was a new one and cost about $16,000. It is a total loss.

The following are the names of those who perished: Henry Brown, Rock Island; H. W. Bedden, Galesburg; George Bennett, Morris; Joseph Colfri, Chicago; Orlanda Ellis, Pontiac; J. W. Galloway, Maconhin; Thomas Hickey, Springfield; Matthew Hague, Chebanze; T. Hatchner, Stevenson county; Thomas Hereley, Chicago; John Johnson, Vermilion; Michael Jordan, Chicago; J. Nathan, Chicago; A. Ronyard, Winnebago county; C. Stratz, Chicago; J. W. Tyler, Chicago; F. Weimouth, Putnam county. Thomas Hereley is the son of State Senator Hereley.

Spain's Unpleasant Visitor.

MADRID, Jan. 18.—Another severe shock of earthquake was experienced at Granada at 10 o'clock Friday night, causing great alarm among the inhabitants. King Alfonso was visiting Velez Malaga yesterday. The heavy snow storm and frost continue. In Malaga the most severe snow storm since 1861 prevails. The sugar cane crop has been destroyed and the orange and olive groves have been damaged. The situation is most critical. The earth is again trembling under the influence of stronger seismic movements. The wind and the snow have destroyed the huts of those who fled from the cities and towns for safety. At Frigiliana, a town twenty-seven miles east of Malaga, the people, rendered desperate by cold and hunger, attacked the houses of the landowners. Another severe shock of earthquake has been experienced at Canillas.

Heavy Snow Storms.

CHICAGO, Jan. 16.—Special despatches from all parts of Iowa and Wisconsin and Illinois indicate the prevalence of one of the worst snow storms of the winter. In Iowa the snow is reported to be badly drifted, and in a number of instances trains have been abandoned. The east-bound passenger train on the Illinois Central Road due at Dubuque this morning was abandoned at Sioux City, and owing to the huge snow drifts and high winds, snow-plows and gangs of men are at work on all the lines endeavoring to keep the tracks clear.

Heavy rain-storms are reported from Pittsburg and Cincinnati, and it is feared at both places that the rivers will overflow their banks.

In some places in Iowa the drifts upon the railroads are thousands of feet long, and the depth in some place averages over eight feet. Reports show that in but few places is the thermometer below zero.

A Passenger Train Wrecked.

ST. LOUIS, Jan. 19.—The Wabash Toledo train was thrown from the track this morning near Venice. Eight or ten persons were injured, Express Messenger Mattlocks fatally.

A Poet in Jail.

PARKERSBURG, W. V., Jan. 18. The attention of Sheriff Smith was attracted this evening by a poem written by a jail prisoner named Campbell, which displayed remarkable talent. It led the correspondent of The Times to see the poet, when, to his surprise, he learned the man is a veritable grandson of the poet Thomas Campbell, which he proves satisfactorily, yet he is in jail on a charge of chicken-stealing. He was born in Edinburg, Scotland, and coming quite young to America served through the war for the Union and in the battle of the Wilderness received a wound, for which he now draws a pension. After the war he studied medicine at Paris and Berlin and received a diploma from each university. He practiced medicine at Zanesville and Cincinnati, and lost his office material and stock of drugs at the latter place in the great flood of last year. Taking to drink he fell very low, and finally took to trading on the river, beginning at Steubenville, where his little child was burned to death. This child was the daughter of his wife, a daughter of Captain Thompson, of the Sixty-third Pennsylvania Infantry, and a prominent society lady of Pittsburg. At this place Campbell was entangled in a chicken theft, the chickens having been found on his boat, but he is confident of acquittal. He has the documents to substantiate his story, which he was not eager to tell, but which your correspondent gradually obtained from him.

Under an Avalanche.

VIENNA, January 19.—Klagenfurt, the capital of the Province of Carinthia, Southern Austria, was visited by an avalanche yesterday, which wrecked several buildings, killed twenty inhabitants and injured many others, who are also rendered homeless. All efforts to rescue the buried are futile. A dispatch from Trieste says many residents of the place are missing, and it is believed they are buried under the snow, in addition to the twenty already known to be killed. The city authorities are exerting themselves vigorously to ascertain the fate of the missing people, and 3,000 men are digging through the snow to rescue the imprisoned and to recover the dead.

BERNE, January 19.—A small village at the foot of Simplon mountain was buried under ten feet of snow yesterday by an avalanche.

The Sands' Millions.

ST. JOHN'S, N. B., Jan. 18.—The statement coming from Reading, Pa., that from sixty to seventy-five million dollars are awaiting the legal heirs of John Sands, who emigrated to Pennsylvania from England with his two sons in the seventeenth century, has attracted the attention of a family of that name here, and, it is alleged, they have an excellent claim. The Sands family is one of the oldest in St. John, and is intimately connected with some of the oldest families in England, where search is now being made for the heirs.

Edward Sands came here from New York State at the close of the Revolution, and, dying without issue, his property reverted to his brother Richard, who, having no family, brought on from the States his nephews.

Buzzard on the Wing.

Special to the Altoona Tribune.

HUNTINGDON, Pa., January 20.—Abe Buzzard, the Welsh mountain outlaw, arrived here on the fast line last night and immediately boarded the south bound train on the Huntingdon and Broad Top railroad, having purchased a ticket to Cumberland, Md. He disclosed his identity to Conductor George Corbin, to whom he said he was going west, but fearing to travel on the main line he thought it prudent to take a circuitous route. He expressed his contempt for the authorities of Lancaster county, who, he said, had magnified his crimes. He was undisguised and presented a very seedy appearance.

Evarts Wins in the Senate.

ALBANY, N. Y., January 19.—The republican senatorial caucus was held in the assembly chamber this evening. Senator Dennis presided. Every republican of both houses was present. Mr. Howe then nominated William M. Evarts' General Barnum nominated Levi P. Morton and General Husted nominated Chauncey M. Depew. The ballot resulted Evarts 61, Morton 28, Depew 3. The nomination was made unanimous.

Proven Not Guilty.

PHILADELPHIA, January 19.—A dispatch to the Press from Carlisle, Pa., says in the criminal suit charging H. E Pennipacker, Augustus, Richey, Charles W. Turnipseed, Thomas H. Armstrong and Charles H Ritter with conspiracy to defraud the Fidelity Mutual Life Insurance company, of Philadelphia, the jury this morning brought in a verdict of not guilty and assessed the costs of prosecution against Samuel S. W. Horley, the prosecutor.

Judge Waite's Southern Trip.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 18.—Chief Justice and Mrs. Waite will start South to-morrow afternoon in the private car of their son, Mr. Christopher C. Waite, vice-president of the Cincinnati, Hamilton and Toledo Road. Their ultimate destination is St. Augustine, Fla., but they will make several stops en route. Mrs. Waite hopes for much benefit for her husband from the salt warm air of that region. Mr. and Mrs. Sam Young, of Toledo, old family friends, will accompany them.

Methodist Female College.

BALTIMORE, Jan. 16.—The effort to establish a female college under the auspices of the Methodist Episcopal Church has so far progressed that $135,000 of the $200,000 requisite has already been subscribed for the purpose. The indications are that the remaining $65,000 will soon be obtained.

The Anneke Jans Claimants.

NEW YORK, Jan. 19.—An advertisement called upon the heirs of Anneke Jans to meet at No. 14 Clinton Place on Monday and Friday afternoons. Mrs. E. H. Wallace, who inserted it, claims to be one of the heirs and is about to begin another suit against Trinity Church corporation to recover the property which has so long been a source of litigation. Mrs. Wallace has called upon her fellow heirs to aid her by their sympathy and their contributions, and the Monday and Friday meetings have been arranged in order that the fight against the Church people may be organized and systematically carried on. A few women and fewer men presented themselves in Mrs. Wallace's parlor to-day, and much time was spent in discussing relationships and exhibiting family Bibles.

Statement of the Oliver Bros. & Co.

PITTSBURG, Jan. 20.—The creditors of the Oliver Bros. & Co., met here to-day. The statement presented shows that the liabilities of Oliver Bros. & Phillips aggregate $1,508,338.93 and the assets $2,319,252 42. The liabilities of Oliver & Roberts wire company "limited," are $902,432.23 and the assets $1,259,510.99. The greatest harmony prevailed at the meeting, and the disposition was manifested by the creditors to grant the five years extension asked by the firms. It is thought that such action will be taken at the next meeting. The assets are considered unusually good.

Who Sold the Treaty?

NEW YORK, Jan. 18.—It is asserted here on excellent authority that the person who divulged the Spanish treaty for publication in the New York Times was Dionicio Lopez Roberts, secretary of the Spanish Senate. The price he received was $2000. Roberts was civil governor of the city of Havana in 1871. In November of that year occurred there the horrible massacre of students. He has always been held accountable for that affair. His brother, Mauricio Roberts, was at that time Spanish minister in Washington.

Injured by an Explosion.

SIOUX CITY, Ia., Jan. 20.—A lard rendering tank in the pork packing house of J. E Booge & Co., exploded this morning tearing down that portion of the building. A very few men were about the tank at the time, but of these John O. Worroll, Joseph French and John Keelers were instantly killed. Another man named Joseph Brever received injuries from which he will probably die. The factory employs 270 men and had the accident occurred a few minutes later the loss of life would have been terrible.

Bullet Holes in Head and Breast.

NORFOLK, Va., Jan. 19.—A farmer residing two miles from the village of Berkley discovered, at an early hour this morning, the body of an unknown white man, apparently about 35 years of age and well dressed, with bullet hole through the head and breast. Whether it is a case of suicide or murder has not been determined. There was nothing found on the body that could lead to an identification. The supposition is that he was a stranger in these parts.

An Old Well Reopened.

WARREN, Jan. 19.—Grandin Well, No. 28, at Balltown was drilled in the sand twenty feet to day, and started off at 500 barrels. The well was shut down six months ago on top sand owing to the owners joining the producers' shut down movement. The production of the Butler oil field to-day was 4646 barrels. The McBride well has declined to nineteen barrels per hour.

Terse Telegrams.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. Jan. 19.—Daniel W. Voorhees was renominated for United States senator by the democratic caucus to-night.

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 19.—The first of a series of balloon ascensions in the interest of the United States signal service was made at 4 o'clock today. The balloon landed at Manahowakin, N. J., at 7:50 this evening.

HARRISBURG, Jan. 19.—The house this evening adopted the concurrent resolution requesting Pennsylvania senators in congress to support the foreign contract labor bill, which has already passed the lower branch of congress.

ROME, Jan. 19.—Considerable anxiety prevails in church circles over the alarming illness of the Pope. He is confined to his bed with fever, occasioned by a severe attack of rheumatism, and grave fears are entertained lest the attack prove fatal.

GRAND RAPIDS, MICH., Jan. 19.—G. O. Thurstein was given a verdict Saturday night, in Kent circuit court against Rasom C. Luce for $8,000 for being kicked down stairs by Luce ten years ago. Thurstein sued for $1,000, and the large verdict causes general surprise. It will probably be appealed.

PITTSBURG, Jan. 19.—A fleet of seven coal boats and six barges, belonging to J. C. Resher & Co., broke from their moorings near Woods Run last night, and six of the coal boats and five of the barges, containing 235,000 bushels of coal, sank in the Ohio River. One of the boats is said to be in the channel. This, if true, will seriously interfere with navigation. The loss is $25,000.

—There will be a meeting of the Centre County Agricultural Society in the Court House in Bellefonte, next Tuesday evening, January 27, 1885, beginning at 7½ o'clock at which time there will be a discussion on the subject of Commercial Fertilizers by eminent agriculturalists who will discuss the subject pro and con. There will also be an election of officers for the ensuing year. Farmers are especially invited to attend.

—Arrangements are in progress in Williamsport for an excursion from that place to Harrisburg to hear D. L Moody, the evangelist, who will preach in the latter city this week.

—Postmaster Patton, of Altoona, expects to retain his position under the new administration, as he considers himself one of those individuals who do not come under the head of "offensive partisans."

—Four millions five hundred thousand gallons of water are pumped into the Harrisburg city reservoir every day. The proportion of this that flows down the throats of the State Legislators is very small.

—Misses Emily Harris and Mary Thomas, two of the fairest and most popular young ladies of this place, departed on Monday to Clearfield, Pa. to visit Mrs. A. B. Weaver. It is not every day that Clearfield has such charming visitors.

—The people of Altoona are making preparations to receive the "Liberty Bell" with considerable ceremony next Friday evening. All the fire companies, the school children and officials of the city will parade to the depot and extend the freedom of the municipality to the venerable relic.

—One of the pleasing and innocent pastimes of young ladies is said to be placing apple seeds on a hot stove. Each seed is named after some gentleman friend and admirer. The seed that pops toward the damsel, who is intently watching the operation, is considered an omen indicating that the person whose name it bore is a promising beaux, and one worth looking after.—Ex.

—It is rumored that Adjutant General Guthrie will give the National Guard more complete and actual service this year than they have ever before experienced. If he has the encouragement that is necessary to carry out his plans he will march them through the country roads, long distances, and will give them the nearest approach to actual war experience that is possible.

—The best and cheapest way to illuminate the streets at night has not yet been solved by council. One expedient was proposed by Mr. L. L. Brown on Monday evening. He believes that the present method of lighting until 10 o'clock might be continued and the cheapest way to furnish light for men who must be out later than that hour is to buy a lantern for each one.

—From the Harrisburg Patriot of last Saturday: "The paper soliciting Senator William A. Wallace to permit his name to be presented to the legislature as the choice of the democrats for United States senator has been signed by every democratic senator except Messrs Sutton and Kennedy and by every democratic member of the house except Mr. Carberry, who has been confined to his room since the day of the organization. The democrats will hold no senatorial caucus, but Mr. Wallace will probably receive the unanimous vote of the senators and members of that political faith."

—An event of importance occurred in Pine Grove Mills on Tuesday morning. It was the advent of two infants into that particular portion of this universe. To add to the importance of it, these two infants (both girls) came within three minutes of each other. At precisely 40 minutes past 10 o'clock the first baby mentioned made her appearance at Mr. Neff Evers' house and at 43 minutes past ten o'clock the second darling girl saw daylight in the home of Mr. Jas. Miller. Now we suppose such things frequently happen in large cities, but in a small town like Pine Grove Mills it is remarkable and of course created great excitement. There will probably be a rivalry between these two maidens all their lives.

—A young man who, of course, don't live in this city, recently blackened his mustache with a lead comb and then took his girl out for a moonlight stroll. When the fair one appeared in the bright light of the family circle, a couple of hours later, her face looked like a railroad map.—Altoona Times.

—The race at the roller rink on Friday evening between Ellis Snyder and Stuart Laird was not decided in favor of either of those gentlemen. Considerable dissatisfaction in regard to the race was manifested by the gentlemen's friends and to have decided in favor of either might have precipitated a quarrel. Consequently, the momentous question as to which of them can roll a distance of five miles in the quickest time is left for the future to determine.

HOME.—In calling attention to an article advertised in our columns, we are pleased to notice an excellent sign in regard to it, viz.: That the testimonials relating to Hood's Sarsaparilla are from New England people, and many are from Lowell, the home of this medicine. We are assured that the sale of this article in Lowell, where it is best known, is wholly unprecedented in the annals of proprietary medicines. We leave it with you to decide as to the probable merits of an article with such a solid foundation.

—Some one who is said to be authority on the subject remarks that the old idea that it is unhealthy to eat at night is a bygone superstition. The most advanced physicians now advocate the theory that digestion aids sleep and sleep aids digestion. They do not mean a hearty meal of roast turkey and truffles at bed time, but enough of good wholesome food to give the stomach something to do during the first two or three hours of sleep.

Miss Emily Faithful, in the Victoria Magazine, says:

"CROSBY'S VITALIZED PHOSPHITES.—It is with the utmost confidence that we recommend this excellent preparation for the relief of indigestion; nay, we do more than recommend, we really urge our readers to put it to the test, for in several cases personally known to us signal benefits have been derived from it use. We have watched its effects on a young friend who has suffered from indigestion all her life. After taking the Vitalized Phosphite for a fortnight she said to us: 'I feel another person; it is a pleasure to live.' Many hard-working men and women—especially those engaged in brain work—would be saved from the fatal resort to chloral and other destructive stimulants, if they would have recourse to a remedy so simple and so efficacious." The National Guard.

The following general and special orders will be of interest to members of the National Guard at this time:

General Order, No. 1, from Major General Hartranft, division headquarters, reads:

"The executive committee on inaugural ceremonies, having extended an invitation to the National Guard of Pennsylvania to participate in the parade incident to the inauguration of Grover Cleveland President of the United States, and this invitation having been accepted, the division will parade in Washington, D. C., March 4, 1885. The quartermaster's department will furnish necessary transportation for troops and brigade bands. No transportation will be furnished for horses. Subsistence and quarters must be supplied by and in charge of respective regimental, battallion and independent company organizations. The troops will parade in full uniform of the National Guard of Pennsylvania: great coats, blanket bags, haversacks and canteens, and will carry three days' cooked rations. On the morning of the parade each brigade will be inspected by the brigade inspector, and any officer or enlisted man not fully equipped in the the uniform as prescribed in G. O. No. 5, C. S., 1880, adjutant general's office, will not be permitted to parade. Brigade commanders and staff, commanding officers of regiments and battalions must parade mounted.

General orders, No. 1, from headquarters N. G. P., proclaims the commissioning of J. M. Lowry, major and quartermaster of the Third brigade, with rank from November 29, 1884, vice Daniel S. Bennet, deceased.

Special orders, No. 22, are as follows: A board is hereby convened to consider matters as set forth in the usual reports of general officers and staff officers for the current year. The board will also consider in general all matters relating to the efficiency of the National Guard which their judgment may suggest, and make recommendations covering the same to the office of the adjutant general. The detail for the board is as follows:

Major General John F. Hartranft; Brigadier Generals, J. K. Sigfried, Jas. A. Beaver, George R. Snowden, and Lieutenant Colonel Silas W. Pettit, recorder.

The board will meet at the call of the President and allow necessary expenses, and $3 a day for clerk services.

In addition to the above, we notice in the papers of recent date circular No. 2, issued from the headquarters of the Fifth regiment under date of January 12. It is signed by Col. D. H. Hastings and Adjutant General H. S. Hale and is as follows:

I. Commodious and convenient quarters have been secured by this command at Washington, D. C., during the presidential inauguration March 4th prox. Seven companies will be quartered in Carroll hall, on G street between Ninth and Tenth, being two squares from the postoffice department and within three squares of Pennsylvania avenue. The hall is supplied with gas, water and water-closets, and large cooking stove in the basement. It will be heated and is as well adapted for quartering the regiment as any other building in Washington that could be had for the purpose. Captain Mullen, to accommodate the other companies, has provided outside quarters for company B at an expense of more than three times what the hall costs to each company. Company commanders are requested to send their apportionment to Adjutant Hale at once. He has paid $150 cash on the contract and guaranteed payment on the balance.

II. Quartermaster Rohrer has secured nine horses for use of mounted officers on inauguration day at a cost of $10 each. The amount for each horse, $10, should be forwarded at once to the quartermaster. Mounted officers will be mounted.

III. The regimental headquarters, while in Washington, will be in Carroll hall, and sleeping apartments have been provided for the field and staff in the building at very reasonable rates. Meals can be conveniently had in the vicinity at moderate prices. The commissioned staff and drum corps will be comfortably quartered in the hall.

IV. No officer or man, not in full uniform of the National Guard, will be permitted in line, and, to provide absolute certainty in this particular, the brigade will be inspected by the brigade inspector on the morning of the 4th of March. Company commanders will give attention to the minutest details of equipments of their men. Officers not supplied with great coats will take notice.

V. The commanding officer notices with pleasure the general interest displayed in preparations for the Washington trip, and expects the officers and men to conduct themselves as gentlemen and soldiers.

VI. Orders relating to details of the trip will be issued in due time.

—"The house is desirable in every respect except one," said the real estate agent to an intending purchaser—"it is not furnished with hot water." "Oh, never mind that!" replied the house-seeker. "I have been married fifteen years, and there is no danger of my ever being out of hot water."—Ex.

Medical, etc.

Half Out of His Head.

"Blessed be the man," said Don Quixote's weary squire, "who invented sleep." Sancho's gratitude is ours, but what if one cannot for any reason enjoy that excellent invention? "Nervousness in me had become a disease," writes Mr. William Coleman, the well known wholesale druggist, of Buffalo, N. Y.

"I could not sleep, and my nights were either passed in that sort of restlessness which nearly crazes a man, or in a kind of stupor, haunted by tormenting dreams. Having taken PARKER'S TONIC for other troubles, I tried it also for this. The result both surprised and delighted me. My nerves were toned to concert pitch, and, like Cæsar's fat men, I fell into the ranks of those who sleep o' nights. I should add that the Tonic speedily did away with the condition of general debility and dyspepsia occasioned by previous sleeplessness, and gave me strength and perfect digestion. In brief, the use of the Tonic thoroughly re-established my health. I have used PARKER'S TONIC with entire success for sea-sickness and for the bowel disorders incident to ocean voyages."

This preparation has heretofore been known as PARKER'S GINGER TONIC. Hereafter it will be advertised and sold under the name of PARKER'S TONIC—omitting the word "ginger." HISCOX & Co. are induced to make this change by the action of unprincipled dealers who have for years deceived their customers by substituting inferior preparations under the name of ginger. We drop the misleading word all the more willingly, as ginger is an unimportant flavoring ingredient in our Tonic.

Please remember that no change has been, or will be, made in the preparation itself, and all bottles remaining in the hands of dealers, wrapped under the name of PARKER'S GINGER TONIC, contain the genuine medicine if the fac simile signature of Hiscox & Co. is at the bottom of the outside wrapper. 16 50 4t

SPEER'S
PORTUGAL GRAPE WINE,
ALSO
UNFERMENTED GRAPE JUICE,

Used in the Principal Churches for Communion.
Excellent for Females, Weakly Persons and the Aged.

Speer's Port Grape Wine
FOUR YEARS OLD.

THIS CELEBRATED WINE is the pure juice of the dead ripe Oporto Grape, raised in Speer's vineyards. Its invaluable are unsurpassed by any other Wine. Being produced under Mr. Speer's own personal supervision, its purity and genuineness are guaranteed by the principal Hospitals and Boards of Health who have examined it. The youngest child may partake of it and the weakest invalid use it to advantage. It is particularly beneficial to the aged and debilitated, and suited to the various ailments that affect the weaker sex.

Tonic and Strengthening Properties

It is in every respect A WINE TO BE RELIED ON.

Speer's Unfermented Grape Juice.

It is the juice of the Oporto Grapes, preserved in its natural, fresh, sweet state as it runs from the press by fumigation, thereby destroying the exciter of fermentation. It is perfectly pure, free from spirits and will keep in any climate.

Speer's Burgundy.

Is a dark rich medium Dry Wine, used by the wealthy classes as a Table or Dinner Wine, and by physicians in cases where a dry wine instead of a sweet port is desired.

Speer's (Sociaite) Claret.

Is held in high estimation for its richness as a Dry Table Wine, especially suited for dinner use.

Speer's P. J. Sherry.

Is a Wine of superior character, and partakes of the rich qualities of the grape from which it is made.

Speer's P. J. Brandy.

IS A PURE distillation from the grape, and stands unrivaled in this country for medicinal purposes.

It has a peculiar flavor, similar to that of the grapes from which it is distilled.

See that the signature of ALFRED SPEER, Passaic, N. J., is over the cork of each bottle.

COURT PROCLAMATION.—Whereas, the Hon. Adam Hoy, President Judge of the Court of Common Pleas of the 49th judicial district, consisting of the Counties of Centre and Huntingdon and the Hon. Chester Munson and the Hon. J. R. Smith, Associate Judges in Centre county, having issued their precept, bearing date the 8th day of December, A. D. 1884, to me directed, for holding a court of Over and Terminer and General Jail Delivery and Quarter Sessions of the peace in Bellefonte, for the County of Centre, and to commence on the fourth Monday of January, being the 26th day of Jan., 1885, and to continue two weeks. Notice is hereby given to the Coroner, Justices of the Peace, Aldermen and Constables of said County of Centre, that they be then and there in their proper persons, at 10 o'clock in the forenoon of said day, with their records, inquisitions, examinations, and their own remembrances, to do those things which to their office appertains to be done, and those who are bound in recognizances to prosecute against the prisoners that are or shall be in the jail of Centre county, be then and there to prosecute against them as shall be just.

Given under my hand, at Bellefonte, the 24th day of Dec., in the year of our Lord, 1884, and in the one hundred and eighth year of the independence of the United States.

Read what the people say, concerning the ability of Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil to cure asthma, catarrh, croup, colds etc. Mrs. Dora Koch of Buffalo, says: "For croup it is decidedly efficacious." Mrs. Jacob Meilliser of Marion Ohio, says the same thing. J. S. Graves, Akron, N. Y., writes: "Had asthma of the worst kind, took one dose of Thomas' Eclectric Oil and was relieved in a few minutes. Would walk five miles for this medicine and pay $1 a bottle for it." Druggist C. R. Hall, Grayville, Ill., says: "Cured an ulcerated throat for me in twenty-four hours." "Sat up in bed and coughed till the clothing was wet with perspiration. My wife insisted that I use Thomas' Eclectric Oil. The first teaspoonful RELIEVED me." E. H. Perkins, Creek Centre, N. Y., Thomas' Eclectric Oil is also a Tip-Top external application for rheumatism, cuts, scalds, burns, bruises, etc. When visiting the druggist, ask him what he knows of Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil. Steam Boiler Inspection.

The Philadelphia Press complains that the state law providing for the inspection and testing of steam boilers is very insufficient, and cites Connecticut and Massachusetts as having admirable laws on the subject. Even if this is so, we do not believe that the people of Bellefonte have any cause for fear. The establishments in this place which use steam boilers have excellent engineers and give the most careful attention to the boilers under their control. This is particularly true at the water works. The chairman of the Water committee of council as well as Superintendent Ryan are unusually competent and careful. From the Nail company's works, from Valentines, from the Phœnix Planing Mill, and, in short, from all places where steam is utilized, the same reports of carful surveillance are received. This is as it should be. So many accidents from steam boiler explosions are occuring throughout the State, that to know that no danger from that source threatens this community is quite consoling.

"Cob's" Contribution to Local Literature.

STORMSTOWN, Jan. 19, '85.

MR. EDITOR: The Juniata Mines have not been in operation for a week past because of being flooded by recent rains. The employes of the mines intended to raise a large and handsome flag to the breeze last Thursday, in honor of their superintendent, Mr. Pierpoint, who was married on that day, but the inclement weather prevented even that.

The most important item I can give, I believe, is the fact that measles are just now raging at the mines. George M. Wike was the first one afflicted with the disease and others are following his example.

—At noon last Saturday a great race took place on Allegheny street between a lady, the wind and the lady's hat. The wind claimed possession of the hat and wafted it off up Allegheny street toward the postoffice. The lady pursued the handsome combination of velvet and feathers, and, after a lively race, succeeded in overtaking it. Now, this lady does not care to have everybody know about this runaway hat, and we won't tell her name; but careful inquiry at Mr. Joseph Ceader's bakery will probably reveal the necessary information.

A Pastor's Salary.

If a man is fit to preach, he is worth wages. If he is worth wages, he should receive them with all the business regularity that is demanded and enforced in business life. There is no man in the community who works harder for what he receives than the faithful minister. There is no man—in whose work the community is interested—to whom regular wages, that shall not cost him a thought, are so important.

Of what proportionate use can any man be in a pulpit, whose weeks are frittered away in mean cares and petty economies. Every month, or every quarter, on a certain day, every pastor should be sure that there will be placed in his hands, as his just wages, money enough to pay all his expenses. Then, without a sense of special obligation, he can preach the truth with freedom, and prepare for his public ministrations without distraction.

Nothing more cruel to a pastor, or disastrous to his work, can be done than to force upon him a feeling of dependence upon the charities of his flock He is the creature of a popular whim, and a preacher without influence to those who do not respect him or his office sufficient to pay him the wages due the man, who devotes his life to them. Manliness cannot live in such a man, except it be a torture—a torture endured simply because there are others who depend upon the charity doled out to him. Good, manly pastors do not want gifts; they want wages. They need them, and the people owe them; but they take to themselves the credit of benefactors, and place their pastors in an awkward and false position. If Christians do not sufficiently recognize the legitimacy of the pastor's calling to render him fully his wages, and to assist him to maintain his his manly independence before the world; they must not blame the world for looking upon him with a contempt that forbids and precludes influence. The world will be quite ready to take the pastor at the valuation of his friends, and the religion he teaches at the price its professors are willing to pay in a business way for its ministry.—Ex.

Ringworm Humor and Salt-Rheum.

RAYNHAM, MASS., Aug. 12, 1878.

C. I. HOOD & Co.: Gentlemen— * * * * I have had ringworm humor and salt-rheum so badly that my body was covered with raw sores; so, also, my head and face. I have had any number of doctors in the last seven years, and none of them could cure me. One day my mother was in the city of Taunton, and found one of your cook books, and in reading it I found many people testifying to cures from the use of your Sarsaparilla and Olive Ointment. I felt forced to try it, although I had seen many things advertised that never did me any good. I have now taken two small bottles and one large one of Sarsaparilla, and used three boxes of Ointment. I now call myself cured. Nothing can be seen of the humor but the dim outlines of the sores. I shall take two more bottles, and then the cure will be complete.

I am gratefully yours,
EDGAR F. WHITMAN.

Biliousness, Sick Headache.

PITTSFIELD, MASS.

MESSRS. C. I. HOOD & Co.: Gents—Please send me by express two bottles HOOD'S SARSAPARILLA and a few Cook Books for distribution. Your preparation has worked wonders in the case of my wife, who has been troubled with sick headache and biliousness for years. She only took one-half teaspoonful at a dose, and has not been so well for five years as now. She found that within a week after taking it she felt very much better, and is now entirely free from those severe headaches. She has not taken any of any account since last spring, and what little she had is lent to do some others some good, and we must have it in the house.

Yours truly,
HOMER B. NASH.

HEADQUARTERS FOR

WATCHES & JEWELRY

1885.

The general depression in business, the scarcity of money and the gloomy prospect for the future all had a tendency to contract the usual holiday business, yet notwithstanding all this our business the past season exceeded that of last by a right respectable amount. This is more remarkable when we recollect that it required the sale of many more articles this year to reach the same amount as last on account of the exceedingly low price of goods. For instance, one hundred dollars purchased two good ladies' gold watches; this year it required the sale of three to reach that amount. One thing has been clearly demonstrated, and that is that the people of our town and county are as able and as willing to buy as fine and expensive goods as the people of any other community are. All they require is a fine stock to select from and that marked at living prices. There are still some of our good neighbors who imagine that they can't expect to get here in Bellefonte what they can order from New York or Philadelphia. In order to convince these of their error and to better serve my regular customers I have at this early day completed my stock which was somewhat broken up by the holiday battle and have extended my solid silver department until its equal cannot be found in the central part of the State, and, in its lines, its superior nowhere. This is strong, but I have the evidence in my store now to make it good. By the time this is in type I can display to your wondering gaze the most magnificent Ice Cream Sets, Coffee Sets, Salad Sets, Fish Sets, Oyster Sets, Egg Spoons, Ice Cream Knives, Shoe Horn and Buttoner, Salts and Salt Spoon, along with an endless variety of Sugar Spoons, Pie and Cake Knives, Jelly and Berry Spoons, Butter and Fish Knives, Olive and Pickle Forks, Tea and Table Spoons, Table Forks, &c., all of Solid Sterling Silver, all cased in the most beautiful cases ever beheld by the eyes of man or woman.

Nervous System.

CROSBY'S

VITALIZED

PHOS-PHITES,

Composed of the Nerve-giving principles of the Ox-Brain and the Embryo of the Wheat and Oat.

This is a standard preparation with all physicians who treat mental or nervous disorders. The formula is on every label. Its chemical composition is superintended by a Professor of Chemistry.

As it is identical in its composition with brain-matter, it is rapidly absorbed, and quickly relieves the depression from intellectual effort, fatigue, loss of memory, or mental irritability.

Sleeplessness, irritation, nervous exhaustion, inability to work or study, is but a brain-hunger—in urgent cases, brain starvation. This brain nutriment quickly feeds the hungry nerves and restores brain power. It is a cure for nervous disorders and debility in old or young.

Brain-Workers Need Brain-Food.

An Exciting Fire.

NEW YORK, Jan. 15.—There was a great excitement in the fashionable neighborhood of west Fifty-third street this afternoon. A fire broke out in the third story of No. 58, which is owned by Mr. C. Van Vechten, a petroleum broker. The flames were discovered by Miss Kate Fox, a seamstress, who saw them on looking up the elevator shaft. There were in the house at the time Mrs. Van Vechten, her two sisters, the Misses Giles, Miss Fox, and three female servants. In their consternation the women rang every alarm except the fire signal, and the engines were not notified until a half hour or more from the time of the fire was first known to be blazing. All the people in the vicinity rushed out of their houses in alarm, and many strangers entered the house to remove such articles as were portable. Agnes, a servant girl, had a narrow escape by climbing out of a third-story window into the next house. Only the furniture on the parlor floor was saved. All the ladies' valuable clothing were destroyed, including Mrs. Van Vechten's wedding dress. Many articles of jewelry, including a $600 pair of diamond earrings, and Mrs. Van Vechten's engagement ring, worth $300, were stolen. A recticule that had contained $50 was found open, minus the money. The total loss is at least $40,000, $10,000 is on the building. All insured in the Brooklyn Insurance Company.

Cameron the Favorite.

HARRISBURG, Pa., January 15.—The republican senatorial caucus was held this afternoon. Senator Smith, of Philadelphia, was president. Thirty senators and 135 representatives were present. A number of propositions were presented and an animated debate of two hours followed, with little reference to the pending questions but mainly devoted to criticisms upon the public acts of Senator Cameron by his opponents, and explanations of these in remarks eulogistic of the senator by his supporters, who, as indicated by the frequent bursts of applause, clearly outnumbered their antagonists. Finally the following resolution, offered by Cooper was adopted, without a division:

Resolved, That the nomination for United States senator, equally with other nominations for national, state and county officers publicly made in accordance with party usages, are binding upon the representatives of the party and especially upon those participating therein.

After the reading of a letter of declination from General Beaver, a ballot for United States senator resulted: J. Don. Cameron 116, James A Beaver 39, William D. Kelley 5, Galusha A. Grow 5, George Shiras, Jr., 1. The nomination of Cameron was made unanimous. Adjourned.

At Harrisburg.

HARRISBURG, Pa., January 16.—In the house this morning a committee was created to improve the ventilation of the hall. The house bill increasing the Philadelphia magistrates' courts from 24 to 28 passed finally, by a vote of 158 to 12. The only Philadelphians voting "no" were McCaffrey and Morgan. The bill was sent to the senate. After a brief session the house adjourned until Monday evening.

In the senate the appointment of Rev. A. H. Studebaker, of Harrisburg, as chaplain, was announced. All pending executive nominations were confirmed except the following: The trustees of the Miners' hospital, Mr. Pashmead, as trustee of the Norristown hospital, to whom Mr. Smith objected, and H. Thomas Walter, as manager of the Southeastern insane asylum, who was objected to by Mr. Reyburn. Adjourned till Tuesday morning at 11 o'clock.

Dynamiters Still at Work.

LONDON, January 14.—The Town Hall at Warminister, in Wilfshire, was practically wrecked by an explosion of dynamite last night. Several houses in the neighborhood were badly shaken, many windows shattered, and several persons threw to the ground by the violence of the shock.

The report of the explosion was heard for two miles around the Town Hall, and great excitement was caused until it was ascertained that no one had been seriously injured. Pieces of tin tubing, which had apparently contained a fuse, were found near the scene of the explosion.

Two suspicious-looking strangers were noticed loitering near the town hall during the afternoon, and police are searching for them, but thus far no arrests have been made.

Idiots at Washington.

NEW YORK, January 14.—At the railroad transportation inquiry to day Chauncey M Depew spoke in behalf of the New York Central Railroad. He said he felt that these questions emphasized the need of a national commission that should have the power to reach and regulate all parties in interest. If the "idiots" at Washington would only create a commission having powers such as the Massachusetts and New York commissions, the State relations of the roads could be adjusted.

Pleuro-pneumonia in Delaware.

WILMINGTON, Del., January 13.—Gov. Stockley issued a proclamation to-day saying that contagious pleuro pneumonia exists among the cattle of this State, and ordering that all diseased animals be quarantined. The General Assembly and the State Grange are also moving in the matter.

A New Plan to Retire General Grant

WASHINGTON, January 13.—Mr. Edmunds introduced a bill in the Senate to-day authorizing the President to appoint and place on the retired list of the army one person from among those who had been Generals commanding the Armies of the United States or Generals-in-Chief of said army. Mr. Edmunds expressed the hope that unanimous consent would be given for the immediate consideration of the bill. Every Senator, he said, would see the object, purpose and application of the bill. It would authorize the President to appoint General Grant to the retired list. In its form it obviated the difficulty observed in the Fitz John Porter case. It would enable the United States to pass the act of gratitude and justice to General Grant. Mr. Cockerill asked that it should lie over till to-morrow.

WASHINGTON, January 14.—In the senate to-day Mr. Edmunds, calling Mr. Frye to the chair, took the floor and called up the bill yesterday offered by him providing that the president may appoint to the retired list one person who has occupied the position of a general commanding any armies of the United States, or a general in-chief of the United States army. He moved to amend it by adding "with the rank and full pay of such general or general-in-chief, as the case may be." The amendment was agreed to.

Mr. Cockerill desired to record his vote against the bill, not knowing whether the yeas and nays would be called on it. The retired list was not the place for private citizens. It had been created for officers who, being still in service, had been rendered unfit for duty. There was neither justice nor propriety in placing a private citizen on such a list. General Grant was now enjoying the receipt of $15,000 a year, which was enough for the support of any American citizen. The bill then passed the senate, after a short debate—Yeas, 49; nays, 9. Mr. Edmund's spoke strongly and feelingly in favor of the bill. Among the democrats, Messrs. Maxey, Voorhees, George, Gibson and Jones spoke in favor. The senators who voted nay were Messrs. Beck, Cockerill, Coke, Harris, Pendleton, Salisbury, Slater, Vance and Walker.

A Failure in Pittsburg.

PITTSBURG, January 15.—This afternoon Oliver Bros. & Phillips and the Oliver & Roberts wire company, limited, issued the following card to their creditors:

We are to-day compelled to suspend payments, and purpose calling immediately a meeting of those interested, to whom we believe we can show assets amply sufficient, with some indulgence, to pay every dollar of our liabilities.

The reports of the embarrassment of Oliver Bros. & Phillips, the greatest iron firm in the city when all its connections are considered, flew about like wildfire and set the town agog with excitement. Such an event was recognized as a catastrophe unequaled by any previous failure, and the great popularity of the individual members of the firm made it all the more to be deplored. The truth of the matter seemed to be that the dull times, immense pay-roll, and other necessary expenses have compelled the firm to ask for an extension somewhat similar to that given to Graff, Bennett & Co., who failed two years ago.

There are many stories afloat as to the immediate cause of the trouble, but in the banks and on all sides it seemed to be the general feeling that an extension would be asked for and would be granted by the creditors. It is impossible to guess at the liabilities of the firm. They are reported at from three to five million dollars. Local bankers say that there is about a million or a million and a half of paper held here, with good collateral for almost all of it.

Dangerous Dynamite.

SOMERSET, Pa., January 14.—The Somerset Chemical works, two miles east of this place, where nitro-glycerine and all grades of high explosives are manufactured, was the scene of a terrible explosion this afternoon. Five men were at work in the packing house when the dynamite was ignited from a red hot poker with which one of the men was boring a hole in the doors. In a second the entire building was in flames and the men with their clothing all on fire started to run and were but a short distance from the building when five hundred pounds of dynamite packed ready for shipment and lying outside of the building exploded with a terrific noise. Two of the men were found about sixty rods away burned to a crisp. The other men were not seriously injured. The shock was so great that people in this town ran into the street thinking their houses were falling down. Window glass were broken in houses half a mile from the scene of the accident.

Governor Martin on Prohibition.

TOPEKA, January 14.—Governor Martin's inaugural message was presented to the Legislature to day. Regarding prohibition, the Governor says the people by their vote adopted the constitutional prohibitory amendment and it is the duty of the Legislature to make laws most effective to that end. He commends the repeal of the provision in the existing statute governing physicians and druggists as antagonistic to the purpose of the amendment. Regarding railroads, he considers the present method of regulation by commission a marked success.

Arranging for the Funeral.

SOUTH BEND, Ind., January 14.—The funeral of the late Schuyler Colfax will be held in this city at the Reformed church, at 1 o'clock on Saturday. The body, under an escort of deputized Odd Fellows from Mankato and Odd Fellows and other citizens from this city, arrived here at 11 o'clock to-night. The Order of Odd Fellows will have charge of the funeral.

The Greeley Relief Vessels.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 16.—At the meeting of the house committee on naval affairs to-day Representatives Boutelle, Talbot and Balentine were appointed a sub-committee to consider the bill for providing for distributing the Greeley relief vessels. Mr. Boutelle favored putting the Alert in complete repair and returning her to the British government with the thanks of congress. He says the vessel was presented to the United States for a specific purpose, and now, as that purpose has been accomplished, it would be proper to return her. The committee also considered the proposed investigation of the death of Cadet Strand, at the naval academy, and by a tie vote decided that no investigation should be made. The members opposed to the investigation based their opposition on the ground that no evidence had been presented sufficient to warrant an investigation.

Opposed to Grant's Retirement.

WASHINGTON, January 16.—At a recent meeting of the house committee on military affairs, Representative Slocum was authorized to call up in the house at the first opportunity the first bill introduced in the senate of the present congress providing for the placing of General Grant on the retired list. At a meeting of the committee to-day a motion authorizing him to call up the bill passed by the senate on the 14th inst., and having for its object the retirement of General Grant, was lost 8 to 2. Those opposing the proposition were Messrs. Rosecrans, Slocum, Morgan, Wolford, Murray, Connelly, Lyman and Bayne. Those favoring it were Messrs Cutcheon and Steel.

One Meal a Day for Thirty Years.

EAST BRIDGEWATER, Mass., Jan. 16.—For thirty years David Allen has eaten but one meal a day. He is a farmer, fifty four years old, rather below the average height and healthy in appearance. Since he conceived, in 1854, that frequent eating was injurious, he has taken only an ordinary dinner as near noon each day as possible. He eats slowly, usually occupying a half to three quarters of an hour at the table. He does as much work as the average man. Mr. Allen never uses tobacco in any form, and never drinks intoxicating liquors. The only indulgence which he grants himself, aside from the noon meal, is an occasional apple, or some little fruit as any one else would do.

A Suit for Libel.

BELVIDERE, N. J., January 14.—Some time ago the Warren Journal published an article reflecting on Marshall Smith, a well-known resident, stating that he had broken his pledge not to drink nor encourage it in others and further that he was guilty of drunkenness. A suit for damages was brought and this afternoon the jury in the case awarded $26 to Smith. The first charge was admitted to be true and the Court instructed the jury that it could not find a verdict against Adam Bellis, the proprietor, for that portion of the article.

Nominations for U. S. Senator.

HARRISBURG, January 14.—In the senate to-night nominations for United States senator were made as follows: Upperman nominated J. Donald Cameron; Wagner nominated William A. Wallace; Aull nominated A. M. Brown, of Allegheny; Lee nominated James A. Beaver, of Centre; Emory nominated Edwin H. Fitler, of Philadelphia; Agnew nominated A. W. Atchison, of Washington; MacFarlane nominated William D. Kelley, of Philadelphia. On motion of Mr. Biddis the nominations here closed. The republican senatorial caucus will be held to-morrow.

A Grand father's Elopement.

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn., January 13.—James A. Bolen, an aged man, and Fanny Harvey, a pretty young girl, were brought here to-day in custody of the police. It appears that the old man, who has three grandchildren, deserted his wife and four children three weeks ago and eloped with the young girl, who had been employed by his wife as a seamstress, he having robbed his wife of her jewelry, which he gave to his inamorata. The police succeeded in tracing the couple to Nashville, where they were living as C. A. Cagle and wife.

Stunned and Frozen.

WATERTOWN, January 13.—Edward A. Lawyer, son of A. Lawyer, Treasurer of the Rome, Watertown and Ogdensburg Railroad, fell from a train near Adams station at 6 p. m. yesterday. His absence was not discovered by the train men and Lawyer, stunned by the fall, was not found until 7½ a. m. to-day. His feet and hands were frozen so that amputation may be necessary. He resides in New York, where he has been employed in the office of the Rome and Watertown Railroad.

A Flood Coming.

PITTSBURG, Jan. 16.—For the past 48 hours it has been raining almost continuously here and at the headquarters of the Allegheny and Monongahela rivers. Dispatches from different points report all small streams greatly swollen. At this place the rivers are rising very rapidly with sixteen feet on the marks at 9 o'clock to-night.

Bad Outlook for Lumbermen.

OTTAWA, January 13.—The want of snow is causing anxiety among the lumbermen, and, should the present weather continue, there will be a general collapse of the lumber trade, as the mills will not have half their supply of logs for next summer.

The three outlets of disease are the bowels, the skin and the kidneys. Regulate their action with the best purifying tonic, Burdock Blood Bitters.

ADVICE TO MOTHERS.

Are you disturbed at night and broken of your rest by a sick child suffering and crying with pain of cutting teeth! If so, send at once and get a bottle of Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup for Children Teething. Its value is incalculable. It will relieve the poor little sufferer immediately Depend upon it, mothers, there is no mistake about it. It cures dysentery and diarrhoea, regulates the stomach and bowels, cures wind colic, softens the gums, reduces inflammation, and gives tone and energy to the whole system. Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup for Children Teething is pleasant to the taste, and is the prescription of one of the oldest and best female nurses and physicians in the United States, and is for sale by all druggists throughout the world. Price 25 cents a bottle. may18 1y

"Peck's Sun:" The northwestern Eistodcfod, which was announced to take place at the Blake opera house, Racine, on Christmas, has been given up. It couldn't get through the double doors whole, and there was no way of taking it apart.

The American Institute on Speer's Wines.

A committee was appointed to visit Alfred Speer's vineyards and wine cellars at Passaic, N. J. The following is the report: "Many will be surprised to learn that within so short a distance from New York city is an enterprise so extensive, of so much importance and so successful.

The qualities of these wines are not excelled by any producer in the world, and during the season when the operations of handling the grapes and expressing the juices are in active progress it is interesting to visit the vineyards and witness the operation. —C. S. HEATH, M. D., R. H. MARTIN, J. DISTURNELL, Com.

For sale by Druggists.

Yonkers "Statesman:" The Indian's wife carries all her husband's wealth on her back when traveling. When we consider the price of sealskin sacques we are led into the belief that her pale faced sister isn't very much unlike her.

Nothing Made in Vain.

We are told that nothing was made in vain; but what can be said of the fashionable girl of the period? Isn't she maiden vain? Hood's Sarsaparilla is made in Lowell, Mass., where there are more bottles of it sold than of any other sarsaparilla or blood purifier. And it is never taken in vain. It purifies the blood, strengthens the system, and gives new life and vigor to the entire body. 100 doses $1.

Washington "Hatchet:" It is said that a milkman out in Colorado, the other day, saved a boy from a watery grave. The boy, we presume, had fallen into one of his milk cans.

To Repair Damages.

Dear lady, there is no use telling you that fashionable life in a great city is a rough one on your beauty. Late hours, loss of sleep, and mental excitement will leave you by and by shorn of those beautiful tresses which drew lovers around you in other years. Artificial substitutes can never pass for those rich and glossy locks. Parker's Hair Balsam will stop your hair from falling out, restore its natural color and softness, and prove cleansing and beneficial to the scalp.

Remarked by R. C. Joiner, of Allen P. O., Hillsdale Co., Mich.: "Nothing gave my rheumatism such quick relief as Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil—believe it infallible for rheumatism.

"What is courtship?" "Looking at each other, taking hold of one another's hands, and all that kind of thing," was the comprehensive answer.

NERVOUS HEADACHE.

—Among the weddings on Thursday afternoon was one which will be of decided interest to many of our readers. Miss Emma Crosthwaite, who for several years has been a faithful and very efficient compositor in the Watchman office, was married to Mr. Charles Schreyer, formerly of this place and now a resident of Lock Haven. The ceremony was solemnized at the residence of the Rev. Mortimer P. Crosthwaite, in Mill Hall, and was performed by that gentleman, who is the bride's uncle. The groom is a worthy young man and the bride is one of Bellefonte's very fairest and most estimable young ladies. The REPUBLICAN as well as all the other friends of the happy couple wish them unbounded and never-ending joy.

A SOCIAL EVENT.

The Nuptials of Mr. James Pierpoint and Miss Jennie Curtin Reynolds Celebrated with Royal Magnificence.

Five hundred invitations had been issued to the Episcopal church to witness the wedding of Mr. James Pierpoint, manager of and one of the partners in the extensive ore interests at Scotia, and Miss Jennie Curtin Reynolds, daughter of T. R. Reynolds, one of the most wealthy citizens of this borough, which occurred at 4 o'clock on Thursday afternoon.

Before the doors of the sacred edifice were opened scores of persons assembled at the entrance, and as soon as admission was afforded these well-bred, well-dressed, happy looking people thronged in, the ladies, as is usual on such occasions, claiming the outside seats in the centre aisle from where a better inspection of the wedding party could be obtained. The church rapidly filled, the immediate relatives and friends entering within the sacred precincts separated from the space without by a satin ribbon across the centre aisle. An orchestra from Altoona occupied the choir, with Miss Bradley at the organ. All was pleasurable excitement within the church, which, in addition to the Christmas decorations, had a large spruce tree in every window.

At precisely quarter of 4 o'clock the bridal party left the residence of the bride's parents on High street. They passed from the mansion to the carriages in waiting under a canvas awning, the satin slippered feet of the ladies being protected from the pavement's rude touch by a covering of carpet.

Mrs. T. R. Reynolds, mother of the bride, with Major W. F. Reynolds and Mrs. R.'s niece, Mrs. Shelden, of Philadelphia, entered the church and formed part of the audience. Hon. Samuel Reynolds and lady, of Lancaster, with their family, were also in the church. When the wedding march was giving forth its triumphal strains the party moved up the centre aisle. First were six ushers, viz: Elliot Lane, James Hamill, J. M. Dale, Fred Reynolds and George Brew, of Bellefonte, and Perse Carskaddon, of Lock Haven. Following them were six bridesmaids, viz: Misses Flora Fox, Mary Thomas and Emily Valentine, of Bellefonte; Nellie Reynolds, of Lancaster, Miriam Thomas, of Philadelphia, and Minnie Simpson, of Lock Haven. The ushers and bridesmaids opened ranks and permitted the beautiful bride leaning on the arm of her father to pass between them. In front of the chancel stood the minister in his priestly vestments, the groom and his best man, Mr. A. W. Dreves, of Pittsburg, to receive the wedding party. Just here we should allude to the toilets of the ladies comprising the wedding party, and in this was the chief beauty of the wonderful picture. The bride's attire was white silk, with long train. The front was a marvel of richness, resembling embossed velvet, but light in texture. It was trimmed with Duchess lace. A handsome bridal veil covered the attire. She carried in her hand a beautiful bouquet of white roses and lilies of the valley. The six bridesmaids were almost equally beautiful. The first two wore light blue silk dresses, cut en train, each lady carrying a bouquet of roses. The second couple wore cream colored silk dresses and carried bouquets of dark red roses. The third couple were attired in delicate pink silk with bouquets of Bon Silene roses. While these dresses harmonized in style and color perfectly, they varied in degrees of richness, and were finished in a style to correspond with the personal appearance of the wearers, that of Miss Valentine with its trimming of swan's down being very becoming. Each maid wore a white veil, and any one would easily have been mistaken for a bride, and it is not probable that many days will pass before they too are led to the marriage altar as the principals in the wedding ceremony.

Rev. John Hewitt appears to fine advantage on all occasions, and his elegant manners and courtly bearing especially become affairs of this character. With dignity and distinctness he repeated the impressive wedding service of the church, and never have we heard bride and groom repeat the vows of love, constancy, obedience and devotion so distinctly as they. Every sylable was heard in all parts of the church, and they evidently meant all they said. The bride was given away by her father, the ring was pressed on the bride's finger, prayers were said to bless their new and tender relation of husband and wife and, after receiving the benediction, the wedding party retired from the church.

About 200 persons thronged the spacious apartments of the mansion after the wedding. Mr. and Mrs. Pierpoint stood in the east parlor where they received congratulations. Many beautiful toilets were noticeable which we confess our inability to describe.

Very elegant was that of Miss Frazer, of Lancaster, being made of blue figured satin and lace sleeves. Mrs. Samuel Reynolds wore a lilac satin with long train. Mrs. Sheldon, of Philadelphia, who is a large, fine-looking lady, wore light colored silk, en train, with dark velvet overdress and trimmings. Mrs. Fleming, of Lock Haven, wore rich black velvet. Mrs. Howard Lingle, of this place, wore a long and elegant costume of white silk. Mrs. A. B. Weaver, of Clearfield, wore a beautiful dress of two shades of light silk, Mrs. W. F. Reeder, blue silk with white lace. Mrs. John Lane wore a blue sleeveless costume and carried a lovely bouquet. Miss Mollie Larimer wore a long costume of copper-colored satin, front of lighter shade. Mrs. George Jackson was regal in black velvet and black lace sleeves. Mrs. Reynolds was dressed in brown silk with Duchess lace. There were other costumes of equal elegance.

The hallway of the second floor contained the marvelous array of gifts, and to look at them was sufficient to forbid any attempt to enumerate the gifts in a single article. In number they were hundreds and in several instances a single gift was hundreds of dollars in value, and the total valuation will reach many thousand dollars, surpassing any similar display ever made in Bellefonte. Among the particularly noticeable articles were a seal skin cloak from Mrs. T. R. Reynolds, the bride's mother; "from papa," which meant Mr. T. R. Reynolds, an elegant silver tea set inlaid with gold; two checks on Reynolds & Co's bank signed respectively W. F. Reynolds and E. B. Reynolds; an elaborate and handsome case containing a dozen solid silver table spoons, a dozen desert spoons, a dozen tea spoons and two dozen silver forks, "from Uncle Sam and Aunt Mary," which means Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Reynolds; a very handsome clock was marked J. L. Spangler, J. N. Gordon, J. M. Dale and Dr. J. N. Brockerhoff. There were beside exquisite vases, statuary, engravings (one very elegant from William Reynolds, the bride's brother), silver ware, cut glass, fancy bags, panel ornaments, etc. We can mention only the names of the givers, viz: Richard Thomas, Dr. and Mrs. George Harris, Mrs. D. G. Bush, Mr. and Mrs. James Harris, William Curtin, W. W. McEwen, Mary Gephart, W. G. Butts, Mollie Snyder, P. Carskaddon, Miss Julia Curtin, Mr. and Mrs. James B. Lane, Mr. and Mrs. John Curtin, Mr. Eliot Lane, J. T. VanValzah, Mamie V. Butts, Miss Simpson, Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Brown, Miss Emma Snyder, Mrs. P. Flynn, Miss Mary L. Thomas, Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Weaver, A. W. Dreaves, Emily J. Natt, John I Potter, George T. Brew, Mr. and Mrs. T. C. Hilton, George N. Hale, Mr. and Mrs. S. A. Brew, Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Montgomery, Mr. W. Moyer, Fred Reynolds, Emily W. Valentine, Emlie E. Harris, Mrs. Shelden, Mr. and Mrs. H. M. Curry, Miss Miriam Thomas, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. T. Abbott, Miss Helen Simpson, Mrs. J. V. Thomas, Wm. P. and Miss Humes, Miss Larimer, Mrs. Frazer and Mary B. Morris, Mr. and Mrs. Hicks, Mr. and Mrs. Curtin and many others.

Immediately after the wedding the groom received a cablegram of congratulation from his parents who reside in England.

We confess that the most enchanting spot to us in the house was the supper table. How grand and tempting it was! It was the work of skilled Philadelphia caterers and wonderfully well did they fulfill their task. Basket after basket of choice cut flowers stood one above another, elaborate and highly ornamental cakes, above two of which was delicate frame work and globes of sponge sugar ornamenting the top. Two wonderfully unique and elegant table ornaments were a large elephant on one side and a graceful swan on the other. Each of these stood about a foot and a half high and was composed of solid, glittering ice. The water could be seen dripping from the sides of the elephant and the light flashed brilliantly from his transparent body, but some of the company had actually to touch the animal before they would believe he was cold, solid, real ice. On the elephant's back was a basket also of ice, into which was heaped grapes, oranges, etc. The outstretched wings of the swan also formed a basket and contained the same delicious fruit. We have partaken of many elaborate menus, but never did viands please as these. The chicken salad was crisp and delicate, boned turkey, fried oysters, choice cakes, ice cream of four different flavors, croquettes, fruits, nuts, and coffee, made up a most grateful repast, which was served by a half-dozen colored waiters, and in about two hours the large company was satisfied.

Dancing was indulged in at various times during the evening, the orchestra being stationed in the hall and the east parlor being utilized for the purpose. There were many graceful dancers present and the first set had in it the wedding party and their attendants.

Mr. and Mrs. Pierpoint departed on the 8:55 train for a trip to St. Louis, Chicago and probably Canada. They expect to return in about two weeks. All friends extend to them their best wishes and sincerest congratulations.

Attractions at Reynolds' Hall.

The entertainment given in Reynolds' Opera House on Wednesday evening surpassed the expectations of those who were present, and the audience was very large, completely filling the commodious hall. The views as shown by the wonderful calcichromopticon were exceedingly rich, interesting and realistic. They included scenes in America, Ireland, France, the Holy Land and Biblical pictures. The spectator was thus afforded the rare privilege of inspecting the most interesting objects in the world without the attendant weariness of travel. The music rendered by the Professor was excellent. In the sentimental songs, "Little Footsteps" and "O Leave not your Kathleen," he played an accompaniment on the organ and in the humorous song, "The Maloney Family," he used the guitar. His vocalization was good in each selection.

One of the most interesting magical performances was "The Spiritual Illusion of the Ancient Pillory," which we have not space to describe. It must be seen to be appreciated, and then you'll want to know how it is done.

Death of Richard T. Downing.

The following notice was received at this office Thursday morning:

DIED.—At the residence of his niece in Downingtown, Pa. Richard T. Downing, on Wednesday, the 14th of January, 1885, aged 77 years, 11 months.

The citizens of this place will recognize in the above the name of the old gentleman who, while living in this place, was daily seen upon the streets attended by his companion and whose steps constantly grew more feeble and hesitating. After the death of his sister, Mrs. Miller, a year ago, he was taken to Downingtown, where he died at the time above stated. He was known by almost every man, woman and child in Bellefonte, and all will comment on the event in a manner that will testify to the genuine sympathy which they feel.

—The same sort of an occurrence happened down in New Orleans. We really should think that people would learn something by this time. Don't they know that editors bear charmed lives? Well, the telegrams tell us that two of the most notorious politicians and best shots in that city went into the editorial rooms of the Mascot, armed to the teeth, intending to give the editor particular fits. But before they were out of the office one of these intruders was dead and the other badly wounded, while the editor escaped with a few scratches. Then didn't Phelan, the dynamiter, receive his injuries in an editorial office? Tell you what. If you are not as docile as a lamb while in an editor's den the consequences are likely to be fatal.

—Argument on the granting of a permanent injunction restraining the Pennsylvania Railroad Company from building the wooden bridge on piles as they are now doing in Spring creek north of Valentines' trestle attracted numerous citizens to the court house last Friday. President Judge Cummin, of Williamsport, presided. The new law firm of Orvis, Bower & Orvis argued the law points for the plaintiff, Dr. E. W. Hale, and Edmund Blanchard, Esq., represented the railroad company. His Honor Judge Cummin decided in favor of the railroad company and the preliminary injunction, heretofore granted, is withdrawn.

—We notice that our genteel friend, Mr. Pierce, a student of law in the office of Judge Orvis, is again at home after taking in the Lock Haven roller rinks for a period of about three weeks. The question which agitates the bosoms of his friends is: What causes his peculiarly bright and animated appearance? Is it because he has been elevated to the position of President of the Literary Society or because he has the opportunity of looking daily at the face of the fair damsel whose photo is the most conspicuous ornament on his bureau?

—"Newly" was a little "previous" on the sale of the Valentine iron works. If the NEWS man would once learn to distinguish rumor from fact he would not make so many ridiculous blunders. Don't jump at conclusions.

We suggest that "Georgie" print his paper with pale green ink to adequately express his envy because "the NEWS man" got ahead of him. It would be doubly expressive, you know, for a verdant youth.

Hood's Sarsaparilla, acting through the blood, reaches every part of the system, and in this way positively cures catarrh.

The Tramp.

Quite a large number of tramps seem to be making Bellefonte their winter home. It is reasonable to believe that the larger number of these men are tramps, not from choice, but from force of circumstances. We have seen among them men who are polite in their manners and genteel in their speech. They do not ask for alms with a bold effrontery, but are hesitating and supplicatory in their requests. They say, what we believe, that their forced mode of life (or rather, it seems to us, living death), is distasteful to them and that they ask for food only to keep alive. If we accept as the truth the tale told by some of these men, we must calculate that the greater portion of the wealthy people of this place are heartless enough to refuse their requests. For instance, a pale, weary-looking man, who applied for food at a certain humble home last Friday, said that he had not been able to obtain anything to eat that day and was very hungry. His mode of address was as deferential as that of the most cultivated gentleman in our midst. His condition and appearance appealed to the hearts of those who really could scarcely spare anything from their limited allowance, and he departed profuse in his thanks for the buttered roll and apple pie which was given him.

But the question occurs: Do those who have abundance and to spare refuse the requests of these men? These are terribly hard times, hundreds of thousands of worthy workmen are out of employment, though no fault of their own; they are forced to leave their families to the tender mercies of neighbors and go forth among strangers and into communities where perchance they may obtain a little work. While there are those in the world who have more than will suffice for themselves these men have a claim upon their aid. So long as a man is able to provide for himself and those dependent upon him, by work, he must rely upon himself; but when, as at this time, that is impossible, charity should be willingly extended. To refuse is a crime. This is not socialism nor communism only human sympathy. Be merciful as you hope for mercy.

—The Y. M. C. A. Literary Society has elected the following officers to serve for the term of three months, viz: President, C. H. Pierce; Vice President, W. F. Speer; Recording Secretary, Will Brew; Treasurer, Frank Lukenbach; Corresponding Secretary, Wilmer Crow; Critic, Harry Keller; Chaplain, Wilmer Crow; Monitor, Harry Cumberland. Executive Committee; W. F. Speer, ex-officio; Jacob Fishburn and W. H. Keller.

Proprietors of the only complete grocery in Centre county, announce to the people of the county that they are now receiving Fresh, New Goods for the Winter Season

1885.

Stock Complete!

Nothing Wanting!

SPICES.—The best cook in the land cannot cook successfully without pure, fresh spices. These we have in every variety. Well-seasoned food adds to long life and happiness.

SUGARS AND SYRUPS.—In Sugars and Syrups we have all the best brands in the market. Much of the sugar now sold is adulterated, and in an article of this kind there is great waste. We buy from reliable dealers, and handle only the genuine goods.

TEAS AND COFFEES.—No breakfast can be thoroughly enjoyed without a good cup of coffee or tea. A drink of this kind is stimulating and goes right to the spot. Our Coffees and Teas are fresh and strictly pure. The fragrant odor which escapes from the steaming pot as it comes in from the kitchen will convince you of this. We sell more coffee than any other two houses in the county. Why? Because we sell the best and the people know it.

NUTS, CONFECTIONERY, ETC.—In Nuts and Confectionery we have everything that is nice, and just what will please the young folks, and old folks as well. Our candies are all pure and wholesome; We do not handle the highly-colored, poisonous mixtures that ruin and decay the teeth. We have new Florida oranges (this fall's crop), fine Figs and Prunes, and a choice line of Canned Fruits and Preserves. Bear this in mind when preparing to Celebrate the merry holidays.

We make special mention of the above lines of goods because they are all leading articles at this season of the year. In other lines our stock is equally fresh and complete.

We buy the Best Goods and sell at the Lowest Figures.

Call in and inspect our No. 1 goods. Then you will know where to purchase when your cupboard needs replenishing.

—This is first-class winter weather.

—Whose wedding will be the next to occur?

—The Lycoming county jail has thirty inmates.

—The prospects for plenty of ice are now excellent.

—Don't get angry if we ask—"Is it cold enough for you?"

—Wanted—a better congregation for ministers to preach to.

—The Lemont band made music at the Rink on Tuesday evening.

—Young gentlemen who bought sleighs this winter are provoked.

—Mr. R. A. Beck for assistant burgess is the ticket now in the field.

—A Sunbury minister preached in the skating rink a few days ago to 800 people.

—Mr. John Brotherline, a native and long a resident of Hollidaysburg, died in Pittsburg, on Sunday, the 18th.

—Miss Annie Westover, of Hollidaysburg, skated 5 miles in 21½ minutes. The feat was performed in a roller rink.

—Many of our readers neglected to attend church on Sunday and by such neglect they lost the equivalent of at least a million dollars in money.

—Among the patents reported from the department at Washington under date of Jan. 16, is given the following: "John Hamilton, State College, seed drill."

—The electric light on the race bridge and also the one on the creek bridge are being put in position. The wire of the latter will be encased in gas pipe.

—The regular annual meeting of the State Editorial Association was held in the parlors of the Lochiel Hotel, at Harrisburg, Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock.

—It is said that a certain prominent young business man in this place is becoming very fond of the "Sunny South." The feeling is doubtless reciprocated.

—Our Lutheran friends are making arrangements to import a first-class lecturer to Bellefonte in the near future, the proceeds of which will be for the benefit of that church.

—It is said that Frank Thompson, now second vice-president of the Pennsylvania Railroad, has received an offer to become president of a western railroad, which he has declined.

—The dwelling house of Mr Samuel Beers, in Reade township, Cambria county, was destroyed by fire on Monday afternoon and a three-year-old son of Mr. Beers perished in the ruins.

—Mr. John Dewitt, of Brooklyn, entertained the Boys' Branch in a very happy manner on Monday evening. He recited numerous selections in a way that pleased the boys immensely.

—Mr. Henry Twitmire, of Curwensville, has disposed of his property located opposite the Friends' meeting house to Mr. Frain, of Howard St., and another gentleman whose name we forget.

—The Ward House in Tyrone was honored on Monday evening with the presence of Messrs. Blanchard and McCafferty, of this place, and also Senator W. A. Wallace, Judge Dean and Senator Calahan.

—While consulting the columns of a recent issue of the Galesburg (Ill.) Plaindealer we noticed that W. F. Bailey, Esq., formerly of this place, is prominently mentioned as a candidate for mayor of that city.

—Col. A. H. Stead, of Williamsport, has been elected master of ceremonies and is expected to be present at the first annual military ball of Co. H, of N. G. P., of Lock Haven, to be held in that place on Wednesday evening, Feb. 11.

—Mr. J. A. Fiedler, city editor of the Williamsport Sun and Banner, arrived in Bellefonte Wednesday morning and remained until to-day. He is a capable and experienced journalist and has numerous friends throughout Centre couty.

—It is necessary to be guarded and careful in pedestrianism. In places the pavements are covered with ice and are very slippery, while in other places they are perfectly free of ice and pedestrianism is safe. Look out for the slippery places.

—Those people who are in the habit of throwing hot ashes in a place where they can possibly ignite to valuable property, are informed that the Spring Mills house really did catch fire a few days ago in this manner and narrowly escaped destruction.

The Borough Council.

The council met on Monday evening, January 19, as soon as a sufficient number of members to constitute a quorum had assembled. There were no verbal communications and the only written communication was from J. C. Brachbill for the council to lay a service water pipe across the street to the curb next his lot on Curtin St. This would establish a dangerous and unusual precedent and was refused.

Mr. L. L. Brown reported that the Street committee had determined to put up two lights, one on the race bridge and the other on the creek bridge on High street. The electric light company will put up the two lights for $19.50, each to be 16 candle power. They will charge $1.50 per month for them after in position and will light and extinguish them at the station at no cost to the borough. On motion, the Street committee were instructed to put up the lights. Mr. Brown also reported that a street is laid out as far as the car works, but it is less than the prescribed width. The trustees of the Thomas estate will build a boardwalk as soon as the street is in proper condition. The recommendation to lay a temporary boardwalk along that street was adopted by the council and the committee instructed to proceed. Progress was reported on the contract with Bellefonte Gas Company for lighting the streets, Col. Tate, on behalf of the same committee, reported that the board walk on Wisdom's Way is being laid. So far as the application to open Penn street is concerned, he does not believe it is practiceable if the persons benefited must pay the expense. That the Undine Hose Company apparatus has been taken charge of in trust for the borough and kept in a convenient location in the southern part of the town.

It was moved and seconded that the name of Richard McCafferty be stricken from membership of the Fire and Police committee. The motion was carried by a vote of 4 to 2. The yeas on this ballot were Crider, L. L. Brown, Tate and Shortlidge; the nays Ed. Brown and Ceaders.

The Water committee, through Mr. Shortlidge, reported that Mr. Baker had satisfactorily arranged the water signal at the reservoir and it is in operation. Much water is wasted on the streets this weather to prevent hydrants from freezing. President Crider supplemented the report by speaking of a recent visit to the water works, where he found everything in the very best condition of repair and improvement and complimented Mr. Shortlidge on that result.

Adventure with a Bear.

Three men from Lock Haven, says the Express, whose vocation is cutting saw logs somewhere in the region of Paddy's Run, had a thrilling experience with a large black bear a few days since. The three men had been down on a short vacation and were on their return trip. It was nearly night and they were hurrying on in order to reach the camp before darkness would overtake them. One of the men carried an axe, the only weapon in the crowd. This man was considerably in advance of the other two, when the latter were confronted by a large bear which suddenly made its appearance from a hole under a large rock. It was but the work of a moment for the two men to climb trees, and commenced yelling lustily for their comrade to come with his axe and dispatch bruin.

The man heard their cries, and came back far enough to see the situation of affairs and then he retreated for the camp. Before he could get reinforcements and return, the bear had concluded to retreat and the terrified men had come down from their perches. Darkness coming on the bear could not be followed, and consequently made good his escape.

Praise Your Wife.

Praise your wife, man; for pity's sake give her a little encouragement; it won't hurt her. She has made home comfortable, your heart bright and shining; food agreeable—for pity's sake tell her you thank her, if nothing more. She don't expect it; it will make her eyes open wider than they have these ten years, but it will do her good, and you too. There are many women to-day who are thirsting for words of praise, the language of encouragement. Through summer's heat, through wintry toil, they have drudged uncomplainingly, and so accustomed have their fathers, brothers and husbands become to their monotonous labors that they look for and upon them as they do the daily rising of the sun, and its daily going down. Home every day may be made buteauful by an appreciation of its holiness. You know, if you can take from your drawer a clean shirt whenever you want it, that somebody's fingers have ached in toil of making it so fresh and agreeable, so smooth and lustrous.—Ex.

"Due, Two Cents."

The Altoona Tribune has the following in regard to a difficulty experienced in the post office service which we suppose affects Bellefonte business men as much as those of other communities:

There was a time when letters not having sufficient stamps affixed to pay postage were held and advertised, which put the payment on the sender. This often resulted in business confusion, the party to whom such letters were directed preferring to make up such deficiency in postage, rather than incur the loss or derangement caused by the delay of the communication. The postoffice department was asked for a ruling, by which the deficiency of postage on all matter could be charged upon its face and collected from the receivers. This prevented delay, but it has produced a disposition in some people to avail themselves of the opportunity it affords to escape the payment of postage on letters sent.

The number of letters now passing through the mails deficient in postage is shown by the sums collected in first-class offices on this account. In Harrisburg this collection runs as high as sixty dollars a month. Business men and people who have any considerable correspondence complain of it, but there seems to be no known remedy. If a letter to go into one of the postoffice boxes is stamped "due, two cents" it is held at the general delivery window, so that if that is not opened when the box holder takes out his mail he must wait until it is. Here is inconvenience added to imposition. Altogether this is now the most irritating feature in the postal service, for which the public is not responsible and which should be remedied in some manner.

The Famous Liberty Bell.

The following telegraphic message was received in Bellefonte at 11 o'clock Tuesday morning from Tyrone:

"Notify all parties that the Liberty Bell enroute for New Orleans by special train on the 23d inst. (next Friday) will pass Tyrone at 5.15 p. m., and that arrangements have been made to stop the train for five minutes to give an opportunity to see it.

S. S. Blair, Supt."

Doubtless the journey of this memorable old bell which, with clarion tongue, rung out the glad notes of freedom more than a century ago, will be fraught with notable consequences and the bell will be guarded with sedulous care. It is a relic of "auld lang syne" which is regarded with special veneration by all patriotic Americans. We think it would be no more than proper for Superintendent Blair to make arrangements to have it switched up for a few minutes to this historic old town, but as that cannot be if any one wants to look at it they must rise bright and early on Friday morning and go to Tyrone on the 5:45 train, returning at night. Thus, while the Pennsylvania Railroad carries the relic gratuitously, it will be abundantly compensated by the additional travel which its passage will cause. We take off our tile to the old bell and wish it a safe journey and return.

The Kind of Paper to Advertise In.

An advertisement cannot reach the general public so surely and effectually in any other way as through the columns of a newspaper that is widely read and trusted. Newspapers which are not respected and faithfully read are not good mediums for advertisers. Newspapers that are purchased only for a half-hour's amusement and are not carried home, do not help to sell anybody's wares. Such advertising mediums are no better than the circular nuisance, and almost as wasteful. The experience of enterprising and sagacious business men prove that the best results attend advertising in the best newspapers—those which go to families and are read by one after another in the home circle—those that are not trival and sensational, but command influence and inspire respect.—Ex.

Insurance Company Officers.

The recent election of directors of the Farmer's Mutual Fire Insurance Company, at Centre Hall, resulted in a choice of the following gentlemen: Major J. B. Fisher and S. J. Herring, of Gregg township; John Musser, of Haines twp.; S. Gramley and Daniel Brumgard, of Miles twp.; H. E. Duck, of Penn twp.; Daniel Weiland, of Harris twp., Hon. S. Gilliland, of College twp.; H. C. Campbell and J. G. Bailey, of Ferguson twp.; Samuel Slack and Frederick Kurtz, of Potter twp. The board of directors immediately organized by electing the following officers:

President—Frederick Kurtz.
Vice President—S. J. Herring.
Treasurer—William Wolf.
Secretary—D. F. Lose.

—The awning has been removed from the front of Harry Hicks & Brother's hardware store on Allegheny street, and the store room has been kalsomined and otherwise improved in appearance. This implies very much for the Messrs Hicks' store, for it has long been known as one of the most complete and well-appointed establishments of the kind in the State.

Finances in Huntingdon County

The Huntingdon county people are always in hot water. Now they are charging the county commissioners with fraud. A dispatch says that the annual settlement of the financial affairs in Huntingdon county by the Auditors, which has been in progress for two weeks, a longer time than is ordinarily required, will involve this year, as it did last, a contest between complaining tax payers and the County Commissioners as to large items of expenditure in the erection and furnishing of the new Court House. It is alleged by R. B. Petriken, as attorney for Col. William Williams and others that there was a consideration paid by a firm at Rochester, N. Y., for the contract to furnish the iron for the cornices, roof, tower and other parts of the building, and by the contractor who furnished and laid the stone pavement, and that the carpets were bought without an award to the lowest bidder. An effort will be made to surcharge the commissioners with the amounts alleged to have been paid to secure contracts and with any payments made by them not in exact accordance with law. The commissioners deny every allegation against their official integrity.

A Departed Comrade.

Whereas It has pleased the Omnipotent Commander of all armies to transfer from earthly service and fellowship, Comrade John Calderwood, member of Wm. Furst Post, No. 419, Grand Army of the Republic of Pa., late of Co. E. 45th Pa. Vol., in the 62d year of his age, therefore,

Resolved, First, That we are hereby reminded that our transfer and "discharge" will come sure and soon.

Second, That we strive to be obedient, good and true, so that our discharge be "honorable" in sight of the Great Ruler.

Third, That we hereby tender our sympathies to the bereaved widow and family in this hour of their deep sorrow.

Fourth, That this preamble and resolutions be entered on our Minutes and a copy of the same be sent to the family of our late comrade.

The above was unanimously adopted at a regular meeting of Post 419, G. A. R., in Stormstown, Pa., Jan 17, 1885.

—We learn from the Philipsburg Journal that a new telephone line will be built across the mountain from that place to Bellefonte as soon as the weather will permit. Messrs. R. M. Bailey, general manager of the Central Pennsylvania telephone company, and W. L. Malin, superintendent of the same company, viewed the road (both the old and new) and and adopted the route by Beaver Mills, coming out in the Bald Eagle Valley at Julian. This change is deemed necessary on account of the vast amount of business done on the different lines leading to the Philipsburg region by way of Tyrone, which has been the occasion of considerable delay and dissatisfaction.

Guilty.

On Saturday last Curtin McClain was found guilty of the murder of Smearman. The trial occupied all of last week in the court at Lewistown and attracted much interest. On Saturday morning the speeches of counsel were made, that of Mr. Reed in behalf of the prisoner being the most notable one. The judge closed his charge at 1 o'clock and the jury at once retired. They did not bring in a verdict until 10:30 o'clock at night and then it was murder in the first degree, in manner and form as the prisoner stands indicted.

—Our talented and very distinguished fellow citizen, ex-Governor Curtin, was in Gettysburg on Saturday where he presided at a gathering of several veterans of the First Army Corps. The Governor made a stiring and brilliant address on the subject of the battle of Gettysburg and the unwritten history of the war and was loudly applauded. The special object of the meeting was to make arrangements for a historical visit of the corps to the battle field on the 4th and 5th of next May.

—Rev. John Hewitt, rector of St. John's Episcopal church, preached on Sunday night on the subject of "Winter," his text being from the parable of winter, as given in the 147th Psalm, 16th and 17th verses: "He giveth snow like wool: he scattereth the hoar frost like ashes. He calleth forth his ice like morsels: who can stand before his cold?"

—The people of Altoona expect to listen to a lecture some time in the near future by that very illogical and somewhat blasphemous, but nevertheless brilliant fellow, Mr. Robert Ingersoll.

Senatorial Correspondence.

The following letter, which explains itself, is found in the telegraphic columns of Wednesday's paper. It shows the position of our honored townsman on the senatorial question which was decided on Tuesday by the re-election of Hon. Don. Cameron:

Bellefonte, Pa., Jan. 17, 1885.
Hon. A. T. Bates, Harrisburg:

My Dear Sir—I thank you very heartily for your kind letter of the 16th inst., just received. I am beginning to be interested in outside affairs and heard with pleasure the action of my friends in the caucus. It was perhaps, just as well to have a division in the vote, and the result may tend to harmony hereafter.

I answered your telegram from Philadelphia, and cannot understand why you failed to receive it. I hope the term "Stalwart" and "Mugwump" may alike be eliminated from our Republican politics in Pennsylvania, and all parties unite in carrying out in fairness the principles of the party, which we believe to be founded in truth. Cordially yours,

Jas. A. Beaver.

Verdict of a Coroner's Jury.

The coroner of Lycoming county impanelled a jury to enquire into the real cause of the boiler explosion in Daniel Bobst's saw mill in Williamsport and the consequent death of three men. They concluded their investigations on Monday and returned the following verdict:

We find that Thomas Purvis and Peter Houser came to their death in Armstrong township, in the county of Lycoming and State of Pennsylvania, on the 12th of January, A. D. 1885, between the hours of 2 and 3 o'clock in the afternoon. That their deaths were caused by the explosion of a steam boiler, belonging to a saw mill owned by Daniel Bobst, and that said Bobst purchased said boiler and mill from one Perry Deen, who at the time of the sale recommended the boiler to be all right. That at the time said Dean sold said boiler to Daniel Bobst it was in an unsafe condition. That said explosion was caused by too much pressure of steam for the weak and unsound condition of the boiler.

—The Philadelphia Record of Tuesday contained the following: It is stated that Vanderbilt who is heavily interested in the South Pennsylvania railroad, has concluded that more money will be required than had been anticipated in the beginning of the undertaking, and is endeavoring to draw out of it as quietly as possible. As the rumor goes, Vanderbilt has offered to sell out the South Penn line in its incomplete condition to the Pennsylvania railroad company. Officials of the latter are very reticent on the subject, and what they do say concerning it is in such a way as to lead to the belief that there is some truth in the rumor. Active work on the road has been suspended for some time.

The Guardsmen's Annual Encampment.

Representative John McCullough, of the Tenth ward, Philadelphia, has given notice that he intends to introduce into the legislature at his earliest convenience a bill appropriating $100,000 to be spent under the direction of the officers of the National Guard, for the purpose of securing a permanent place for an annual encampment. Major General Hartranft stated last week that so far as he and his staff were concerned they had not asked for this. They had no site selected in the State, and if the legislature desired to follow out Mr. McCullough's ideas they were satisfied, otherwise there would be no protest.

New Arrivals in this Place.

The Daily Democrat, of Lock Haven, on Monday contained the following:

Prof. Thos. N. Magee and family, after visiting Mrs. Magee's parents, Rev. J. K. Bricker and family, of Elysburg, where they attended the wedding of Mrs. Magee's youngest brother and after spending a few days with the family of Mr. Joseph Paul, will this afternoon leave for their new home in Bellefonte.

Mr. Magee has resided in this county for eight years and was twice chosen superintendent of the county schools. During his term in office he materially raised the standing of the schools. We cheerfully commend him and his family to the good people of Bellefonte.

—Wednesday a new local tariff was inaugurated by the Adams Express Company on packages carried on the Pennsylvania Railroad accommodation trains. The reduction will be nearly twenty-five per cent. Since the combany took charge of the local business on the Pennsylvania Railroad, some time since, the rates on packages were considerably increased. It is now the intention of the Express Company to so reduce these rates as to make them as low as they were when the baggage department of the railroad had charge of this branch of the business.—Altoona Times

—It is reported that low temperature continues in the West and Centre county cannot expect moderate weather for several days yet.

—So little snow is there on the ground that Young America has great difficulty in finding enough of it to coast on.

Personal Pencilings.

Mr. Jacob Angle, of Illinois, is visiting friends in Madisonburg.

Mrs. George Weaver, of this place, has been quite ill for a week past.

Mr. G. W. Lyon, of Pennsylvania Furnace, greeted friends in Bellefonte on Monday.

Mr. A. J. Harter of Millheim, will erect a new house as soon as the weather will permit.

Mrs. Olmstead, of Williamsport, has been the guest of Mrs. Sayre, in this place, during the past week.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Schreyer came from Lock Haven on the 5 o'clock train on Friday afternoon.

Mrs. Kyle McFarlane returned on Monday from Lock Haven where she has been the guest of her relatives.

Mr. and Mrs. Ellis Orvis returned on Monday from Williamsport where they have been spending a few days.

Mr. Samuel Brooks has returned from his trip to Troy, O., and is preparing for a visit to Harrisburg, where he will probably compell the legislature to elect his Senatorial candidate.

Rev. Mr. L. Cook, pastor of the Philipsburg Presbyterian church, has severed his connection with that congregation and is now residing at his father's home in Merryall, Bradford county, where he hopes to recruit his failing health and strength.

Mr. John Dewitt, of Brooklyn, a traveling salesman who visits Bellefonte monthly, was in town on Sunday. He rendered a vocal solo in the Episcopal church on Sunday evening. He is very versatile and is said to be an excellent elocutionist. He always makes himself as useful as possible wherever he sojourns and doubtless reaps genuine satisfaction in doing so.

Judge Cummin, of Williamsport, who presided at argument court in this place last Friday, is one of the most popular and eminent judges on the bench. To his efforts is largely attributed the improvement in the moral condition of the city in which he lives. It is said that since his elevation to the bench crime has decreased in that city 50 per cent. and he has the respect of all classes.

Mrs. J. H. Carskaddon, of Greenville, Pa., (widow of the Hon. Geo. W. Carskaddon, deceased), is at present visiting at the home of her brothers and sisters at the Benner residence on the corner of High street and the Diamond in this place, having arrived here on the 8.45 a. m. train on Friday, the 16th inst. Mrs. Carskaddon was formerly Miss Juliett H. Benner, and will be remembered by many of the older citizens of Bellefonte, who no doubt will be much pleased to see her at her old home again.

—A most brilliant instance of special providence comes to us all the way from Georgia and we give it for what it is worth, as follows: A number of ministers stopped with Mrs. J. W. Davis, of Ransaca. She was sorely perplexed as to the means of getting something good for them to eat. She had tried in vain to get a ham in the place—all having been consumed by the large crowd in attendance—but one small chicken could be found. While she was busy in the kitchen preparing the chicken, and wondering how she could provide for her guests, a convey of partridges flew into the dining room. The doors were closed, and a number of the birds caught, and the ministers fared sumptuously.

—Curwensville, Clearfield county, has a new paper. No. 1 of Vol. 1., of the Curwensville Herald reached the Republican office last Monday. The first issue is neat in appearance and instructive in its contents. It is Republican in politics and we commend it to the members of that political faith in Clearfield county. As a news collector and disseminator it will be valuable to readers of all classes.

—The Y. W. C. T. U. will meet this evening at 7 o'clock in the Y. M. C. A. rooms. All the members of the Union are urged to be present.

—The "gas man" in L. L. Brown's coal office had something to say about electric light on Tuesday evening.

That Terrible Cold.

Oh, that cold, that terrible cold;
It gets into the heads of young and of old,
It goes all through their systems and makes them so sore,
That the like they never experienced before.
It disturbs them by night and also by day,
And they almost blow themselves away.
They quaff hot, burning teas and take plenty of snuff
And murmur: "The world is using me pretty rough."
To bed they go and wrap themselves tight
In blankets and try with all their might
To get rid of the cold which bothers them so
But somehow or other it will not let go.
'Ha 'hapoor victim; you can't drive me away
Until I want to go," we heard the cold say.

MARRIED.

SNYDER—PRAY.—At the residence of the bride's parents, in Liberty township, January 1, 1885, by Rev. W. A. Ridge, Mr. W. H. Snyder to Miss Laura Pray, both of Blanchard, Centre county, Pa.
